UNDER THE PUNKAH.
By J. PENN.

I am privileged to announce that a preliminary meeting of persons interested in the "Better Pictures for Hong Kong" movement was held yesterday at the residence of Mr. George P. Bottlethwaite, who was unanimously elected to the chair.

In opening the proceedings, the Chairman said we had gathered together in the firm resolve to do something to remedy what had been described as an intolerable state of affairs. (Applause.) He (the Chairman) did not wish at that stage to impose his own personal views upon the meeting, and therefore invited expressions of opinion from those present as to what steps should be taken to bring to an end that condition of affairs which it had been said could no longer be tolerated in a highly civilised and cultured community as was this distant outpost of Empire. (Loud applause.)

Mr. Harold Doolittle rose rather shakily to a point of order, if not to a point of perfect audibility. He was understood to say that in his opinion progress of the discussion would be greatly facilitated if the Chairman gave the necessary orders to his No. 1 boy to gratify the possible desire of some present to lubricate their vocal organs.

The Chairman intimated that anyone desiring a drink of ice-water could obtain same by visiting the pantry. He added that the ice-box had been specially cleared out and re-stocked with gin-bottles (not bottles of gin) in anticipation of such a suggestion as that made by Mr. Doolittle.

Colonel Tytbellet, Royal Horse Marines, retired, moved that steps be taken to appoint a Press Secretary whose duty it would be to provide really frank criticisms of all films shown in the Colony. As these comments would be probably considered grossly libellous by the proprietors of cinema-halls, he (the speaker) suggested they be published by the Government in the Official Gazette, thereby making that periodical much more interesting than was customary, and at the same time protecting the writer and publisher from legal proceedings.

The Rev. William Stiggins said he had never been to what he believed were sometimes called the "pictures," but from the illustrations he had occasionally and accidentally observed in turning the pages of the local papers he was convinced that the cinema was a place to be avoided by those who—like himself—were not interested in the exhibition of feminine garments of an intimate character and the undraped nether limbs of members of the opposite sex. At the same time, he was willing to believe the cinema could be made an edifying and—if he might say so—elevating influence, and he greatly rejoiced to hear that pictures entitled "Uncle Tom's Cabin,"

"Sandford and Merton," "Little Red Riding Hood," and "Pilgrim's Progress" would be shortly shown in the Colony.

The Hon. Richard Whittington, O.B.E., said he had been greatly shocked at some pictures he had been persuaded—much against his will—to see. He was all in favour of educative films, and suggested the exhibition of a series of pictures showing various Government Departments at work. The speaker complained that photographs of men in highly responsible official positions were being constantly published which depicted them playing bowls, or tennis, or golf, or on the grand-stand at the races, but never at work. Publication of such pictures was calculated to give the public an altogether wrong impression, and he therefore urged that films showing Government Departments actually engaged in their activities should be exhibited regularly. He was confident that sufficient work could be found to keep the personnel fully engaged while the cinema pictures were being taken if due notice were given of the photographer's coming.

Dame Grundy, President of the International Women's White Rose of a Blameless Life League, said the trouble to observe the modes and manners of Hong Kong girls. She (the speaker) was unapologetically shocked at the immodest style of dressing followed by a deplorably large number of girls in the Colony. As President of the I.W.W.R.B.L. League she had distributed many leaflets among the young women travelling on the Kowloon ferry, in which pamphlets was explained the folly and wickedness of short skirts, tennis socks, and indecorous exposure of arms and chests. It was impossible, however, to persuade girls to abandon their wicked and wanton ways while the films continued to put these ideas into the heads of the young and thoughtless. Dame Grundy suggested that no female under thirty should be permitted to go to the cinema unless the films shown were approved by the League of which she was so proud to be a member.

Several other speakers having addressed the meeting, all of them warmly favouring the formation of a "Better Pictures" Society, the Chairman closed the proceedings. In doing so, he spoke to the following effect:—

"Ladies and Gentlemen,—I have been greatly interested in what you have said this afternoon. After listening to your views, I am more convinced than ever that this Colony contains some of the most extraordinarily muddled minds to be found anywhere in the wide world. What a hash you would make of the job if you were appointed to pass final opinion on the standard of films intended for exhibition to the public! Your views are so narrow that they could pass through the eye of a needle and still leave room for the cotton.

You are no more qualified to sit in judgment on such matters than a cat can adjudicate at a band contest. You can go back to your respective domiciles and leave this community to look after itself without any interference from you. Go and bury yourselves if you like; you may be missed, but not mourned." The proceedings then terminated.

A correspondent sends me the following news item:—A stormy debate occurred at a recent meeting of the Hong Kong Fraternal Association held to consider ways and means by which they could better serve the community. As is well known, the F.A. exists only for charitable purposes, its chief source of income being the residues of gate receipts after distribution to the people who provide the fun during the busy season. An important item on the agenda was to decide what action should be taken against a member for alleged infringement of copyright vested in the chairman and two other members of the Fraternity. Certain tender susceptibilities being involved, the chairman proposed to conduct the meeting behind closed doors, but an amendment was put forward to admit those members of the public who are interested in charitable objects, and this was carried by a small majority, five members courageously refusing to vote either for or against.

A lengthy explanation was offered by the member said to be guilty of the alleged serious offence which had lowered the dignity of the Fraternity. It was pointed out that he had acted in the best interests of all by tapping sources for extra revenue of which other members were not aware. The storm broke when all the members proceeded to speak at the same time. Order being eventually restored, the chairman pointed out that the present resources of the F.A. were sufficient to deal with all applications, and individual canvassing was greatly to be discouraged. He further drew attention to the fact that a recent donation had to be rejected owing to there being no call upon the Association for help. A vote of censure was passed on the defaulting member.

Applications for assistance were then considered in committee. A member strongly opposed the despatch of funds to deserving Home charges, regardless of the prestige accruing to the Fraternity, pointing out that charity should begin at home (Hong Kong). This received general approval, and an appeal for assistance towards the famine in the North was turned down. The following allocations were approved:—Kowloon Blind Home, $350; Tung Wah Eastern Hospital, $2,100; Society of St. Vincent de Paul, $1,275; S.P.C.A., $360; M.C.C., $85; various Convent Schools and Orphanages, $600. It was decided to place $5,000 to reserve to meet contingencies in connection with the appointment of new treasurers. The balance, less cost of upkeep of motor-cars, and after providing for a retiring allowance for life of $200 (less income tax) for the Honorary Secretary, to be handed over to the Water Emergency Committee as a safeguard against Hong Kong going "dry."

CHEMICAL GOLD.

FRENCH ALCHEMIST'S EXPERIMENT.

SULPHUR, SILVER, AND ANTIMONY.

[United Press.]

"Doulai, France, July 13.—Gold has again been brewed in a laboratory crucible, this time by an alchemist who challenges the chemists, physicians and the savants of the world to verify his discovery.

M. Jolivet-Castelot, president of the Alchemists Society of France, insists that he has obtained ten milligrams of good red gold by a process of his own discovery, and throws the gauntlet square at the Academy of Sciences. Not only does this present day follower of Thomas Quinas, Raymond Lull and Roger Bacon issue a challenge but follows
it with publication of the formula.

"I mixed six grams of silver absolutely free of all trace of gold with two grams of sulphur and antimony, one gram of orpiment and one gram of chemically pure tin," the Alchemist said. "I subjected the mixture to a heat of 1,100 degrees centigrade, bathing the product in nitric acid and aqua regia.

"Indisputable Result."

"The result was indisputable. I estimate the amount of gold obtained at ten milligrams. The tin which I include in the formula I did not use in my experiment but it is certain that its use will increase the amount of gold obtainable. I believe I have found the key to the regular and industrial manufacture of gold."

M. Jolivet-Castelot stated that he had submitted his formula to scientists of many nations for verification and had in several instances received testimonials that confirmed his belief that he had at last found the philosopher's stone.

Doctor Gaston Huysmans, Director of the Public Health Laboratories at Brussels, wrote to the alchemist that, "I believe your experiences permit the realization of the dream of gold synthesis."

Dr. M. Paul om. Lind, professor at Santiago, Cuba, wrote: "I have not found it necessary to modify your formula nor the process that you indicated, for the transmutation took place exactly as you explained. I am ready to vouch for the veracity of your experiments and the positive success, this not to flatter you because I do not know you, but to add weight and strength to the truth."

Fascinating Experiments.

Dr. J. Outon-Dumont, declared that, "I have redone your experiment in my laboratory and I was amazed."

The Academy of Sciences of France has, however, refused to give serious attention to M. Jolivet-Castelot's discovery despite his repeated attempts to gain a serious hearing. Nor, for that matter has any other body of what the alchemist describes as "official savants"
granted the discoverer an audience.

M. Jolivet-Castelot is only one of a series of men who have claimed they have discovered how to transmute "base" metals into gold. Alchemy, which lost its standing when in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries it was put on a scientific basis, becoming therewith, Chemistry, has however continued to exist, fascinating cranks and amateur chemists. Al-chemist societies exist in all civilized countries and have thousands of members.

The last announcement of the laboratory manufacture of gold was from Dr. Michele of the University of Berlin who claimed that he had transmuted mercury into the precious metal. This sounded plausible because mercury contains but one atom more than gold and it would be possible to knock off the excess atom by chemical process. New York University professors in attempting to verify the experiment failed to obtain any gold. It was therefore concluded that gold must have existed in the mercury as an impurity.

Discovery of a process for the swift manufacture of gold would revolutionise the financial and industrial world, the first by destroying the gold basis of the world's money system, the second by supplying a substitute for steel. Scientists point out that a combination of gold, platinum and iridium would not only be harder than steel but would have the additional advantage of being rustproof.

Old-street magistrate: What drink did you bring from the public house? Woman: A liquid drink.

Deserted wife, at Willesden:
My husband must be in work, because he is driving about in his car.

BROKEN ROMANCE AT FIFTY.

IRISHMAN'S ALLEGED 18 YEARS' COURTSHIP.

"SO LONG—UNSCATHED."

"No, old dear, I passed my fiftieth year two days ago, and as I have gone so long unscathed I am going to take pot luck for the remainder of the time. Once again, miss, No, never more."

This extract from a letter, stated to have been written by a man to his fiancée, was read in the King's Bench Division, before Mr. Justice Horridge and a common jury when damages for alleged breach of promise were claimed by Miss Joan Gould, of Canovee, Killinardish, County Cork against Mr. John O'Sullivan, an employee of the Port of London Authority, of Voltaire road, Clapham.

Mr. O'Sullivan denied that a promise of marriage was given.

Holiday Visits.

Mr. Willoughby Jardine, for Miss Gould, said that she was the daughter of a farmer of Canovee, where Mr. O'Sullivan formerly lived. She had known Mr. O'Sullivan by sight as a boy at school, but she first became acquainted with him in 1903.

Her father died in 1905 and shortly afterwards Mr. O'Sullivan proposed marriage to her. She spoke to her mother about the matter and her mother advised her that owing to her father's death the wedding had better be postponed.

Mr. O'Sullivan went to Canovee for his holidays every year for a considerable period, and was always accepted as Miss Gould's fiancé.

A voluminous and affectionate correspondence passed between them
for eighteen years.

Mr. O'Sullivan was on holiday in Ireland in the summer of 1919 when he told Miss Gould's brother that he intended that the wedding should take place later, and added that it would have been celebrated long before but for the difficulty of obtaining accommodation.

Mr. O'Sullivan was affectionate towards Miss Gould in September, 1923, while on holiday and talked about obtaining possession of a house. However, he left Ireland without saying "Good-bye," and in the following month he wrote the letter quoted above.

The news reached Ireland later that Mr. O'Sullivan had married in England on February 24, 1924.

Witness and "Squeezes."

Miss Gould, giving evidence, said that she was now over fifty years of age.

Her family often sent Mr.
O'Sullivan salmon and other delicacies during the war. He treated her most affectionately after the engagement, and always kissed her when they met.

Mr. Justice Horridge: Did he give you the squeezes he speaks of
in his letters?

Miss Gould: Yes.

Miss Gould, in cross-examination by Sergeant Sullivan, said that she never authorised any one to say on her behalf that if she had been married she would have had a fortune of about a thousand pounds.
She had never been present at an Irish match-making.

Sergeant Sullivan: Your case is that you and Mr. O'Sullivan fell in love?—Yes.

Mr. Justice Horridge: Your suggestion is that in other cases it is always business?

Sergeant Sullivan: In most cases the marriages are arranged by the parents, and not by the young people at all.

Sergeant Sullivan said later: I want you to point out any passage in the whole correspondence in which Mr. O'Sullivan makes any allusion to approaching marriage or to fixing a date for it.

Mr. Justice Horridge: If she has to go through all these letters we shall be here till Christmas.

The hearing was adjourned.

SOLE DIRECTORS DIE.

PROSPEROUS COMPANY'S DILEMMA.

The extraordinary position in which a company has been placed by the deaths of two brothers on successive dates was mentioned to Mr. Justice Maughan in the Chancery Division recently.

They were sole directors and shareholders of a company called
T. A. Firth, Ltd., and the effect of their deaths was that the company was unable to pass resolutions, order cheques to be signed,
or transact any of the ordinary business of a board of directors.

Singular Case.

Mr. Heckscher, for the executors of the brothers, applied that their names should be added to the company's register, respecting the shares held by the brothers. He said that he did not know of another case like this.

The alternative to making this application would be to wind up the company, which would be disastrous, as it was a prosperous
one.

Mr. Justice Maughan adjourned
the motion and directed that in the meantime notice should be served on the secretary to the company requiring that the names of the executors should be placed on the register.

[United Press.]

London, July 13.—With British business men convinced at last that the Talkies have come to stay, a new financial power with immense resources is expected to begin operations in London very shortly. So far, an air of mystery and secrecy has been thrown about the plans of the proposed organization, but it is known that the new trust hopes to secure the services of Charlie Chaplin, Ronald Colman, and other big stars and feature them in British Talkies.

In this way the promoters of the trust hope to resuscitate the British film industry, and exploit the commercial possibilities of British talking voices, and British talent generally. A number of financiers who have hitherto had no interest in the film business are preparing to launch a private company with unlimited resources and international guarantees to make British talking films with famous artists.

Negotiations in Hand.

Negotiations are already in progress with personalities of international fame to see if they are prepared to come to England and work. The new company will act as financiers only. It aims, however, to secure the pick of the world's production managers, technicians, artists and studio workers with a view of founding a new British industry modelled on the idea of that in America which has proved so eminently successful.

The brains behind the new syndicate believe that the time is ripe for the establishment of production on a large scale over here, and it is possible that it will work in alliance with an American concern.
Broadly the scheme is one of international co-operation rather than competition, but the films will be essentially British, and at the same time have a world-wide appeal.

The company may take over some existing studios, but it is probable that it will erect its own adjacent to London. These will be equipped with the most up-to-date method of sound reproduction. It is hoped that the new trust will be able to handle talking and silent films starring such artists as Charles Chaplin, Ronald Colman, and other big stars.

A DOCK SMILE.

SENTENCED MAN ANGRERS
WOMEN IN COURT.

George Joseph Fletcher, aged thirty-nine, a seaman, who was accused at the Old Bailey of defrauding women in poor circumstances, pleaded guilty to obtaining money
by false pretences, and he was also found guilty of being an habitual criminal.

The Common Sergeant said that although Fletcher had been found to be an habitual criminal, he could not sentence him to preventive detention unless he gave him penal servitude, and he did not think that it was a case for that.

Fletcher smiled broadly when sentenced to two years' hard labour.

A woman in court: Oh you beast smiling like that.

Another woman: I would like to give him something to smile at when he comes out. He had my last penny.

A woman at the court door cried,
as Fletcher was taken below:
"Call me to speak for you, George."

HUMOUR: ANCIENT AND MODERN.

Youth: "I feel as if I were treading on air."
Girl: "Here's father—you'd better step on the gas!"

Father (proudly): "Yes, my daughter is now getting a man's wages."
Visitor: "Oh, when did she marry?"

George: "If I'd known that the tunnel was going to be so long, I'd have kissed you."
She: "Good heavens! Wasn't that you?"

Lady: "Are you sure that this orchid will bloom every 100 years?" Florist: "Yes, but if it doesn't do so, I will take it back without conditions."

"When the tourist arrived home
he fell on his face and kissed the pavement of his native city."
Emotion?
"No, banana skin."

"Waiter, I've been waiting half an hour for that steak."
Yes, sir: I know you have. If everyone were as patient as you,
life would be worth living."

Boss: "Sam, you never get your work done; guess I'll look for another man."
Sam: "Ah, glad to hear dat,
sir. Dar's 'nough wuk for both of us!"

Wife: "How do you like this dress? I bought it on the deferred payment system."
Husband: "It looks as if you have only put on the first instalment."

"Do you ever work in the garden?" inquired a friend of a financier.
"Well," remarked the latter, reflectively, "I sometimes water my stocks."

Chatty Pedestrian: "So your name is Shakespeare? A well-known name, indeed." William: "I reckon it ought to be. I been-shepherding here nigh on 70 year."

Returning American Tourist (at port of entry): "What! Four hundred and fifty-seven dollars duty for some American gowns and a few 'other things' I bought in Paris? Oh, what an outrage!"
Customs Officer: "Just an old United States custom."

Waitress: "Haven't they given you a menu yet, mister?"
Famished Customer: "Yes, but I finished that half an hour ago."

Elderly lady (at the observatory): "Is that Mars?" Astronomer: "No, that is Venus." Lady: "Fancy knowing that at such a distance."

"What did you think of the entertainers who did that duet?"
"Ideal! He played the piano so loud in places you couldn't hear her sing; and she sang so loud at times
you couldn't hear his playing."

Customer: "Can you vouch for this table as coming from the fifteenth century?" Antique Dealer: "I certainly can—why, it was so old that I had to put four new legs on it and a new top."

Roy: "Papa, what kind of berries are these?"
Father: "Blackberries, my boy."
Roy: "Blackberries? Why, Papa, they're red."
Father: "Yes, but only while they're green."

"Now, then, come on! What's your name?"
Speed Fiend: "Demetrius Aloysius Hopplewaite." Police officer: "None o' that now,
it's your name I want, not the family motto."

"How becomingly slender you have grown," exclaimed a friend to a lecturer returning home after an extended trip. "How did you do it?"
"The more grace," he replied,
"the less grease."

The Aberdonian walked sadly at the end of the funeral procession.
"Are you one of the mourners?"
asked the undertaker.
"Am I yin of the mour-rr-ners?" sobbed Angus. "Mon, he owed me two pounds."

A lady motorist whose car had swerved across a suburban street and crashed through a plate glass window was being questioned by the local police sergeant after the accident.

"Surely on such a wide street
as this," said the interrogator,
"you could have done something to prevent this accident?"
"I did," the delinquent assured him quite earnestly; "I screamed as loud as I could!"

SPORT AND ATHLETICS.

A DRAMATIC FIGHT.

Without question what was the best women's lawn tennis of the season was seen at Beckenham when Great Britain met South Africa in a two-days international match. At the close of play each side had won two matches. The most dramatic fight of the afternoon was the victory-gained only at the post-of-Miss Betty Nuthall over Miss
"Bobbie" Heine, the champion of South Africa.

It was clear that Miss Heine has improved immensely since she was last in England. Miss Nuthall recently, too, returned to her best form. The young Natalian displayed beautifully accurate strokes and fine over hand service delivery. Her backhand drive was specially clean.
Miss Nuthall opened with some furious and none-too-accurate hitting, so "Bobbie" Heine went ahead to lead by four games to one.
Here the English girl showed real mettle, and reeled off one game after another to capture the first set by 6-4.

Miss Heine was by no means done with. In the second set the English girl led by 4 games to 2, and increased this lead to 6-3. Here her opponent made a brilliant stand, and ran out with the set at 8 games
to 6.

The third set also had dramatic fluctuations. Miss Nuthall went through to lead by 5-1. Once more the South African lengthened the rallies, and captured one game after another until she had reduced the margin to 5-4. Here Miss Nuthall, serving, held two match points at 40-15. Five-all was called; six-all; seven-all. It was still anybody's match. Whereupon Miss Nuthall, with another brilliant burst, won the most dramatic victory of the year by 6-4, 6-3, 9-7.

CENTURY FOR WARWICK MISSED.

Glamorgan experienced a trying day in the field at Edgbaston, when some splendid batting by Wyatt, Parsons, and Smith helped Warwick shire to finish the day in happy circumstances. They had 442 on the board for the loss of four men.
Wyatt's innings provided the brightest cricket of the day. He and Parsons added 169 in an hour and fifty minutes, and never found the slightest difficulty. Wyatt made the majority of his 139 runs on the leg side, though occasionally he straight drove with much power, and found the boundary fifteen times.
Parsons, reaching his 50 within an hour, made 'forceful' shots in all directions, being especially severe upon Ryan, and including eight 4's in his 75.

Smith, who with Kilner made a first-wicket stand of 81 in ninety-five minutes, put his leg in front of a straight ball from Mercer when within three of the century. He batted confidently for two hours without giving a chance. Smith largely paved the way for the success of his fellows, and though his boundary strokes were limited to nine, he batted in skillful style.

F.A. AND NEWCASTLE'S TOUR.

The Football Association state that a reply to the allegations made in a report from the Hungarian Football Association regarding the tour of Newcastle United F.C. in Hungary, has been received from the club.

This reply will be communicated immediately to the Hungarian F.A.
for their comments, and when these are received the matter will be further considered by the Football Association.

UNORTHODOX METHODS.

Bill Riches, of Fulham, who acted as substitute for John Sheehan of Deptford, in the chief fifteen-rounds contest at The Ring recently, gave Tom Daly, of Bermondsey, a lot of trouble owing to his unorthodox methods. He stood with his right foot slightly in advance, and consequently was able to shoot out either hand so unexpectedly that he often sent Daly reeling.

Obviously Daly was puzzled, but gradually solved the problem and won on points. The loser would have done better had he "not included in so much clinching."
Les Burns, of Bowes Park, outpointed Charlie Thomas, of Hammersmith, but the decision was badly received. Johnny Clift, Clerkenwell, beat Billy Mack, of Bethnal Green.

Alf Simmons, the Hackney lightweight, scored another victory at Premier-land, where he beat Harry Jennings, of Bethnal Green, on points, in a fifteen-round contest.
George Brown, of St. George's, showed promise while beating Pte.
Porter, of Birmingham, on points over twelve rounds, while in a ten-round bout Charlie East, of Canning Town, beat Tommy Morgan, of Wales, on points.

LONDON BOXER WINS.

Johnnie Mann, of St. George's, put up one of the best performances of his career when he beat Frank Carberry, of Liverpool, in twelve rounds at Premierland recently.
The Liverpool boxer proved remarkably game in the face of terrific right-hand punches to the chin, but even when he was knocked through the ropes he came back fighting.
His seconds threw in the towel for him midway through the twelfth round.

MAINLY FOR THE MEN.

In view of the controversy between the gipsies and the Epsom Downs Association it is interesting to note how few gipsies in the southern counties still really speak Romany. A generation or two ago every gipsy spoke the language more or less fluently, although among those who moved about the South of England the grammar was far more impure than in Wales, or the northern counties, English constructions being used while the words themselves were pure Ro-many. Now-a-days, however, few of the younger gipsies even speak the language in this way. Certainly Romany words are still introduced into their English, but they are quite unable to carry on a conversation in Romany. The same thing has happened in a lesser degree in the North of England, and it is only in Wales that the language is still spoken properly. The Welsh gipsies pride themselves greatly on the way then speak the language, and even hold friendly competitions among themselves as to who can speak the best Romany. They still also consider themselves the aristocrats of the English gipsies, and never dream of mixing with tribes from other parts of the country.

Vital statistics which have been issued by the Minister of Labour show that the population of France increased in 1928 to 41,020,000, compared with 40,920,000 in 1927.
Births, exceeded deaths by 70,935, compared with 65,042 in 1927. The number of registered marriages was 239,014 in 1928 and 337,864 in 1927.

Last year 745,315 infants were born alive, compared with 741,703 in the preceding year. Deaths numbered 675,110, in 1928, and 676,966 in 1927.
Although these figures show an improvement over those of 1927, the total population of the country, is still less than before the War. In 1913 it was 47,685,000.

Sir John Forster, delivering the annual Romanes lecture at Oxford on "The Vicissitudes of Organized Power," paid a remarkable tribute to world peace.
There never had, he said, been a serious mutiny in the British Army.
There have been troubles among isolated regiments but never any grave revolt since the days of Cromwell. This state of affairs he attributed to "the loyal patience of the officers and the trust of the men,
not in the state, but in the officers."

The British soldier has himself intelligible to all peoples, nations and languages and though he has entered many countries as a conqueror, there are few he has not quitted as a friend. Officers and sergeants have gone forth, as it were, as missionaries to preach to scores of races—Christian and heathen—the gospel of their own sects—service, obedience, sacrifice.
"We take it as a matter of course,
but it is a very great achievement."

The Pax Romana was great, but possibly centuries hence historians may agree that through the peculiar schooling and character of the British officer and soldier, the Pax
Britannica was eclipsed by the Pax Britannica.

A tale of a lost toll-bar gate is causing amusement in Southampton and district. At a cost of nearly £20,000 the Southampton Corporation bought a stretch of road extending from Southampton to Hedge End, a distance of about four miles, and so freed three old toll-gates.

Recently an elaborate programme was arranged, in which it was intended that the three gates should be spectacularly and actually lifted off their hinges by the Mayor, with assistance.

Two gates, one at Southampton and the other midway, were duly put aside, but when the Mayoral party arrived at Hedge End no gate could be found. It had been stolen during the night, and all that could be done was to cut one of the other gates along the road,
put it into position, and solemnly lift it off again.

Now the stolen gate has been found reposing in the Recreation Ground, only a short distance from its original position, and tied to it with string was a laurel wreath with a card bearing the words, "In Memory of Ye Old Toll Bar, Gone, but not forgotten. Please do not touch."

MORE ABOUT FILMS.

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONG KONG DAILY PRESS."]

SIR.—Although not a Director, I do happen to know a good deal of the inside workings of the Hong Kong Amusements Co.

It seems to me rather an extraordinary thing that the chairman at the general meeting, should have gone out of his way to make some very favourable comments regarding Mr. Ray's service with the Company.

On this account the Directors are evidently not in a position to give a reply to the criticisms of pictures, as actually, practically all these pictures which the Directors must agree are some of them not good—were contracted for by Mr. Ray before his resignation, notwithstanding the oft-repeated complaints that the films were better during his regime. Having been contracted for by a responsible servant of the company, they must be taken up. Reginald Denny pictures—I believe they are Paramount efforts—and other good pictures from the same studio had to be discontinued for some time, owing to difficulties this studio's representative had with the late Managing Director. Gradually these difficulties have been smoothed over, and we are bound to see more of this excellent studio's production as time goes on.

As regards the pictures shown, it is a well-known fact that in contracting for a series of pictures issued from a studio, the purchaser cannot pick and choose if clients are to be catered for, as if a regular service is required the producer must take all or none.

Further, the question of what is an attractive picture or not I thought a matter of individual taste. However, I now see it is all a question of degree of intelligence, but anyway the result is the same, what suits one does not suit another, but it requires a much higher management than any mortal one to put this right.

As regards price, for a decent seat in a London cinema show the price is 5s., which is 150 per cent. more than the same class of seat here. The chief picture in a London show runs for at least three weeks constantly, whilst here owing to less population it is necessary to have a change of picture three times a week. Even the lowest degree of intelligence, and I venture to hope the highest degree of intelligence also, can see the risk of getting a certain number of poor pictures if the management has to get 150 pictures per annum, i.e., three per week, instead of 17 pictures per year or once every three weeks. It reflects greatly to the credit of the management the fact that almost ten times as many pictures are bought for display and yet the seating prices are kept at such a low figure in comparison with more thickly populated areas.

As regards choosing of pictures for foreign clients by a Chinese staff, this if it were done would, of course, be suicidal. Actually, the pictures are chosen by the issuing studios, who contract to give a regular supply, and the Chinese staff can be neither praised nor blamed for the pictures being poor or otherwise. They must be shown as received, or there would be no pictures to show at all, and although some of your correspondents might think this a blessing judging from the trend of their letters, there are many others who would be very sorry.

The enticing advertisements are also supplied by the advertising experts attached to the same studios, and are sent with the pictures, so if they are misleading then the entire world is being misled, as I venture to hope that even the average intelligence will realise that none of the Metro Goldwyn, Paramount, etc., pictures are made exclusively for Hong Kong.

In conclusion, if any sufficiently interested person cares to purchase any of the recognised cinema magazines, and refers to the names of the leading studios, and takes note of the releases of the Hong Kong

AN APPEAL TO THE FERRY COMPANY.

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONG KONG DAILY PRESS."]

SIR.—The Kowloon Residents' Association would be doing a great service to the public who have to make use of the Star Ferry every day if they would advise the Star Ferry Co. to erect signals on either side of the wharves to show when the launches are coming in or going out.

At present a great deal of inconvenience is caused to the travelling public who do not know when the launches are arriving or leaving, and have to rush about in order to catch a ferry. Some two years ago there were signals on both the Hong Kong and Kowloon wharves, but without any reason they were taken away and have never been replaced. I am sure it will not cost the Company much to replace these signals, and the service they would render to the public would be much appreciated.

One word more. Could not these "sailors" be instructed to be a little more polite to their patrons, and not slam the gates against unfortunate passengers' faces? A little politeness would not cost anything, and the goodwill gained would be immense.

Thanking you for allotting me space in your popular paper for this letter, and hoping that some good may result from it.—Yours, etc.,

S. C. KNOX.

MOTOR-BUS SERVICES.

SIR.—There appeared in your issue of the 19th ultimo a letter from "Footsore" requesting the Hong Kong Tramway Company to extend its Happy Valley bus service to Village Road to the Jewish cemetery. Nothing has so far transpired, and I suppose the Tramway Company notorious as it is for its scant treatment towards its patrons and utter unconcern for the interests and welfare of the public—do not propose to do anything, except howl and rave later when a more enterprising concern—which will study the public needs step in and fill a long overdue need.

Let us hope the Hong Kong Hotel Company will come along now and start to run a few buses from the Jewish Cemetery to Statue Square, say every quarter of an hour, from 8.30 a.m. to 9.30 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 2.15 p.m., and leaving Statue Square say, every quarter of an hour, from 12.45 to 2 p.m. and from 5 to 6 p.m.

The Tramway Company deserves no sympathy from the Government or anyone else. Its trams are deadly slow, and its buses are most uncomfortable and often like ovens with the windows purposely so adjusted that the majority only open a few inches. The comfortable buses of the Hotel Company would be a boon.

Surely the Government will permit the Hotel Company to do something as indicated, particularly when the Tramway Company does not intend to move, and one hopes that the Hotel Company will set to work with its noted enterprise by starting the above run, which is bound within a very short time to be a well paying one.—Yours, etc.,

TRAVELLER.

Hong Kong, August 2.

Amusement Co., it will be found that films from all the best studios are shown here, and surely the highest intelligence cannot expect better than the best.

The handsome profits the company has made, notwithstanding having purchased a constant supply of first releases from the leading studios at a price evidently satisfactory to the studios concerned, points to the fact that the theatres must be well patronized, and this must mean that at least a good many patrons in Hong Kong are well satisfied.—Yours, etc.,

"RED" AGITATORS IN HONG KONG.

POLICE VIGILANCE REWARDED.

FOUR ARRESTS.

An alert watch was kept by the police for activities by agitators who might be likely to enliven "Red Thursday" by a little sedition in Hong Kong.

Inflammatory leaflets were in fact distributed in certain centres where there was less risk of detection, and the mischief makers also resorted to throwing "literature" from the upper storeys of buildings. Officers of the Criminal Investigation Department, assisted by district watchmen, made a search of boarding houses and other likely haunts, but it was not until late in the evening that they were able to capture a few of the Communist agents with their propaganda near the Sincere Company's premises.

Disclosures in Court.

The sequel was heard at Central Magistracy yesterday before Mr. E. W. Hamilton when a number of men were placed on trial. Detective-Sergeant Mottram produced a quantity of papers, some of which had been distributed in the streets. A boarding house man was charged with possession of the "literature" and remanded for one week.

A batch of three men were then brought up on charges of possession and distribution of seditious propaganda. It was stated that a Kwangsi man and a Hakka, two of the defendants, were among those caught near the Sincere Company. The third, a Cantonese, would not have been in the dock but for the fact that he followed the man arrested at the boarding house. His behaviour in the Central Police Station compound prompted the officers to search him. Seditious "literature" was found in the pocket of his trousers. A remand for one week was also allowed in this case.

MONEYLENDERS AND THE LAW.

USE OF REGISTERED NAME NECESSARY.

KNOTTY POINTS OF LAW.

A curious case has occupied the attention of the Puisne Judge in the Summary Court during the two last Friday sittings and was yesterday adjourned till next Friday.

Sapeoran Singh, a moneylender, claimed $315 on a promissory note said to have been signed by three men of whom the first was in court. This man, who was sued under the name of K. U. Leung, denied all knowledge of the plaintiff or of the loan and declared that his name was Y. S. Ling. The second signatory, Fung Shu Hay could not be found, and the third Li Kim was stated to have gone bankrupt.

Mr. J. Wiltshire, bailiff of the Supreme Court, gave evidence at the first hearing of serving the writ on defendant, who, he said, ran away through the back door on seeing him approach with the moneylender. Witness knew him as Y. S. Ling.

The case was adjourned in order that the plaintiff should subpoena Li Kim to give evidence as to the identity of the defendant.

A New Point.

After further evidence had been heard, yesterday the defendant still maintained that he had no knowledge of the plaintiff. The Puisne Judge said that a new point had arisen. He had looked up the ordinance and found it laid down that a moneylender should only trade under his registered name. There had been a case in 1924 when two moneylenders had formed a partnership and registered their names as partners. One of these two later accepted a note in his own name and failed to recover because it was not in the registered name of the firm. From the ruling in that case it would appear that the Moneylenders' Association of which the plaintiff was a member and in whose name the writ was issued was in the same position. The note was made out not to the association but to Sapeoran Singh, and while he felt sure that the members of the association had acted in good faith the note was not really taken up on their behalf but on behalf of one of their members. He advised the plaintiff to give up the association and claim in his own name and to get the advice of a lawyer. He restored the matter to next Friday's list.

LIKIN TO BE ABOLISHED.

KWANGTUNG'S NEW PLAN.

EXCISE DUTIES IN THEIR PLACE.

CANTON, August 2.

The local authorities are taking steps to abolish likin throughout Kwangtung. At the last meeting of the Financial Committee of the Province it was decided that all likin should be done away with by the end of February, 1930. This will be carried out in steps, thus to allow for a gradual introduction of other forms of taxation. In October of this year all likin on raw silk will be dispensed with and a new tax, the raw silk excise tax, will be introduced.

In December this year the second step will be taken, when likin on oil, tea, marine products, china ware, drugs and paints will be done away with, and in their places, excise duties will be introduced.

Finally, likin of all kinds will be abolished next February, and excise duties will be levied on such articles as paper, timber, cattle, hides, ores, soy beans, cotton, and the like.

The authorities are of the opinion that the likin on raw silk should be abolished first since it retards the development of the industry in the Canton-Delta.

ANOTHER AERODROME.

Another aerodrome is to be constructed in Canton, Lean Dog Ridge, to the east of Canton and close to Mount White Cloud, having been selected for the site. The Military Headquarters have sent the aviator Chen Hing Wan to survey the place preparatory to construction. The need of another aviation field in Canton has long been felt, and the question was first mooted when Marshal Li Tsai Hsin was in power. Lean Dog Ridge was recommended and met with the approval of Marshal Li. Everything was planned, and construction was about to be begun when the Kwangtung-Kwangsi war stopped everything.

EAST RIVER COMMAND.

Tsai Ting Kai, the newly-made Divisional Commander of the 60th Division, left Canton to-day for Waichow to take over his new post. His troops are scattered throughout the East River districts, but his staff and chief subordinates are assembling at Waichow for the inaugural ceremony.

GENERAL "DUNNED" BY TROOPS.

FOLLOWED TO HONG KONG.

After his defeat in the Swatow district, General Hsu King Tong, the pro-Kwangsi leader, turned over the remnant of his forces to his chief subordinates and went to Hong Kong.

Now, according to the vernacular Press, hundreds of General Hsu's former hosts are swarming into the Colony and demanding payment. A large amount has been given these men, payment being made at the Asia Hotel.

BANK HOLIDAY.

POSTAL ARRANGEMENTS.

We have received the following notice from the Postmaster-General:—On Monday, August 5, the G.P.O. and branch post offices will be open from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. There will be one collection from the pillar boxes and one delivery of ordinary correspondence as on Sundays and one delivery of registered correspondence at 9 a.m. The money order office will be entirely closed.

CASTLE PEAK ROAD.

STILL CLOSED AT 15-MILE POINT.

Information from the Roads Office of the P.W.D. is to the effect that the Castle Peak Road at 15-mile point is still closed to traffic. Work on repairing and clearing the damage of the landslide is not completed, and the road will remain closed until further notice.

THUNDER OVER QUEEN'S ROAD.

A LIFT FUSE BLOWN OUT.

At about 12.30 p.m. yesterday following a flash of lightning over Pedder Street, with a deafening clap of thunder a second or two later, the rumour spread that the A.P.C. building had been struck. The usual crowd collected but their anxious gaze revealed nothing wrong.

Our representative interviewed Mr. W. A. Butterfield of the Engineering Department of the A.P.C. who said that he went to the roof of the building but found no damage. However, a lift was put out of running order by a wire fusing probably owing to the proximity of the immense voltage of the lightning. This was soon remedied and the lift resumed service within a short space of time.

Sparks in Telephones.

Referring to the rumour that sparks were seen to flash across the mouth pieces of several telephones in the upper floors of the building, Mr. Butterfield said that although he had not seen it himself this was not an uncommon thing during a thunderstorm.

Another report was that the pile driver at work on the site of the new branch of the National City Bank of New York had been damaged. The news, received with a certain equanimity in the district, was quite unfounded.

CHINESE CHAMBER MEETING.

FUNDS FOR FAMINE VICTIMS.

There was a very representative gathering of Chinese merchants and bankers at yesterday's meeting of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, when a number of interesting questions were discussed.

Mr. Li Yick Mui presided.

An interesting letter from the Central Executive Committee of the Nanking Government to the Chamber was read to the meeting. The document drew attention to a report by the Anti-Opium Committee in Nanking which suggested that the penalty on smuggling should be made much heavier and that any person found smuggling opium or, was in any way connected with smuggling should be severely punished.

The smuggling of opium was one of the evils which could be remedied and the letter was a warning to Chinese living overseas of the serious nature of the offence of smuggling opium into China.

It was pointed out that even if a person had been punished for smuggling opium by foreign authorities, they were liable to further punishment on arriving in China as the Government was determined to put a stop to this evil.

Famine Relief.

There was also an interesting discussion on the question of raising money for the famine stricken population of Shensi and North West China. The Chairman mentioned that all letters on this matter addressed to the Chamber had been forwarded to the Tung Wah Hospital but shop-to-shop collection had not been arranged. He hoped that subscribers would be generous in their contributions which should be sent to the Tung Wah Hospital.

Mr. M. K. Lo, Chairman of the Tung Wah Hospital, stated that famine relief was the foremost matter in his mind and in the minds of the Directors of the Hospital. It was unfortunate that the appeal for famine relief came up at the same time as the appeal for funds for the Tung Wah Eastern Hospital and as a result those who were connected with the hospital were fully engaged and could not get up a house-to-house collection. He suggested that the Chamber of Commerce appoint a group of members to assist them in their work for that noble cause. The Directors had, however, done everything possible to swell the funds for the Shensi famine relief.

Mr. Chau Yeu Teng said that he was sure the Tung Wah Hospital would look after the collection of this fund in the able manner in which they had looked after other charitable collections in the past.

Mr. Lo stated that he had given as much publicity to the fund as was possible. He had interviewed Pressmen and enlisted their assistance on many occasions. He had also seen the Secretary for Chinese Affairs and could not be accused of having left any stone unturned. He reminded the house that in addition to the appeal for Shensi relief and the Tung Wah Eastern Hospital, they were also looking after a collection for the relief of victims of the explosion at Yunnanfu recently.

One speaker expressed his opinion that the two largest and certainly the most influential Chinese institutions in Hong Kong were the Tung Wah Hospital and the Chinese Chamber. He thought they should work together.

Yunnanfu Explosion.

In regard to the Yunnanfu explosion the Chairman announced that an official letter had been received by the Chamber stating that about 1,000 were killed and about 10,000 wounded in the explosion. The Chamber of Commerce at Yunnanfu had appealed for funds and members were asked to contribute generously and to rope in as much money as possible.

Harbour Board.

It was announced yesterday that Mr. M. K. Lo, one of the two Chinese representatives of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce on the Harbour Board, has indicated that he would not be able to continue to serve owing to pressure of work. Mr. Chau Yeu Teng was elected to the vacancy. Mr. T. N. Chau is the other member.

ALLEGED "BUCKET SHOP" FRAUDS.

ADAPTATION OF OLD FIRM NAME.

SEVEN MEN IN COURT.

Alleged to be concerned in a series of "bucket shop" frauds, seven Chinese appeared in the dock before Mr. E. W. Hamilton at Central Magistracy yesterday. Mr. A. E. Hall defended the first man, and Mr. F. X. d'Almada, jun., appeared for three others, while the remaining defendants were not legally represented.

Mr. E. S. C. Brooks, who prosecuted on behalf of the complainants, drew His Worship's attention to the possibility of the second defendant turning King's evidence on promise of a pardon.

Mr. Hall said that although he did not appear for the second defendant, he must object to the procedure as the man had pleaded not guilty. The point was settled by the defendant evincing no desire to give evidence from the witness-box.

Alleged Method of Working.

Outlining his case, Mr. Brooks said that the Kwong Fat Wing firm formerly carried on business at 11, Connaught Road Central, second floor, for some 14 years. On April 28 last, having got into financial difficulties, they closed their premises and the partners left the Colony.

Three weeks later the first defendant approached the principal tenant of the premises, who had at one time been the owner, to rent the second floor. Defendant entered into possession and put up a red paper notice outside the premises to the effect that it was the Kwong Fook Wing firm. After that business commenced.

One of the defendants, Mr. Brooks alleged, then went round purchasing goods in the name of the Kwong Fat Wing (the original firm). In other cases the goods were obtained by one of them going to the shops and saying that payment would be guaranteed by the Kwong Fat Wing firm. Evidence would be brought to show that goods were received by the defendants and that they chopped the sellers' books with the name of the original firm.

Mr. Brooks added that he had 23 witnesses and there were about twelve different shops as complainants. Some of the shop people would say that attempts were made to obtain goods from them.

Principal Tenant's Evidence.

The first witness called was the principal tenant of the premises who said that he knew the Kwong Fat Wing firm and its partners. They occupied the second floor of the premises and closed down last April. Three months' rent was due to witness, and as a set-off he was given the furniture of the firm. When the members of the firm left, they took a new signboard away, leaving three old ones behind.

Witness then spoke of the renting of the premises by the first defendant. Subsequently witness saw outside the door of the second floor a poster (produced in Court) announcing it was the Kwong Fook Wing, a branch of the Canton firm of that name.

The case was adjourned.

NIGHT FETE POSTPONED.

The night fete at the Victoria Recreation Club, which was to have been held last night according to earlier arrangements, was postponed, causing no little disappointment. The heavy rains during the day, coupled with the uncertainty of weather conditions for the night rendered the postponement necessary. It is intended to hold the fete next Friday night but this has not been definitely decided upon.

WATER STORAGE.

BIG RAINFALL IN JULY.

By 7 a.m. yesterday morning the Island's reservoirs showed a storage of 1,100 million gallons, the increase for the previous 24 hours, when an inch of rain fell in the reservoir district, being 50 million. Heavy rain fell during the whole morning, the Royal Observatory report showing that 2.37 inches fell between 4 p.m. on Thursday and the same time yesterday.

The Observatory forecast, issued at 6.05 p.m., stated:—

Pressure is highest over S. Japan, depressions are situated to the North-east of Japan over Tongking and between the Bonins and Guam.

The Rider Main Supply Problem.

An official statement by the P.W.D. is as follows:—

With reference to the representations which have been made to Government with regard to the introduction of a rider main supply it may be pointed out that the present storage is only 1,050 million gallons as against a storage of 1,800 millions at the beginning of August last year. When the rider main supply was discontinued in October, 1928, the storage was 1,400 million gallons. This had decreased to 141 million gallons on July 11, 1929.

Should the rainfall, however, continue it may be possible to remove the present restrictions at an early date and introduce a rider main supply.

After inspection, it has been found that in many of the houses in the rider main districts taps have been removed and that in other instances fittings are defective. It is essential that house owners should give this matter their immediate attention in order to avoid waste when the rider main supply is introduced and to prevent the necessity of cutting off supplies from these houses.

ANXIOUS DAYS FOR JAPAN.

CHANGES of Governments usually lead to a slight disturbance of business, especially that of a speculative character. There was a sharp slump on the Tokyo and Osaka Stock Exchanges when the TANAKA Ministry resigned, and the HAMAGUCHI Cabinet went into office. This was more than a month ago, and there has been ample time for the market to steady itself again, but latest reports from Japan indicate that business generally is still very unsettled. One reason for this is that the new Government has announced its intention of suspending all public works other than those of urgent importance. This retrenchment, it is feared, will cause considerable displacement of labour, with a corresponding reduction of purchasing power. Men who are thrown out of work will have no money to spend. Rumours that Naval and Military Estimates are to be cut also lead to the belief that industry will be adversely affected.

The new Government's alleged intention to lift the embargo on gold exports at an early date has also aroused considerable anxiety in Japanese business circles. While it is agreed that in the end the effect will be good, yet it is feared that the immediate result will be seriously to dislocate business. Finally, the situation in Manchuria, arising out of Russo-Chinese differences, has aroused many misgivings. The idea of an international commission to go into the middle of Manchurian affairs has caused grave apprehension in Tokyo. Japan does not regard with approval the participation of other Powers in a discussion of the Russo-Chinese deadlock, and considers her own interests there to be much more important than co-operate efforts to make peace between the disputants. Japan is extremely anxious that negotiations between Russia and China should proceed smoothly, and thus make it unnecessary to talk further about mediation, or international action. It is perhaps realised in Tokyo that if the whole question of foreign interests in Manchuria were opened up for independent inquiry, the result might be disconcerting for some of those who claim to have fully and lawfully established rights in those provinces. Altogether, Japanese business-men see nothing but trouble awaiting them.

The situation in Manchuria—where many Japanese see the great Japanese-owned South Manchuria Railway, and its affiliated interests, as mentioned by the trend of policy indicated in China's seizure of the Russian Eastern Railway from Russia—has proved disquieting to Japanese business in general. With many Japanese feeling that once Russia has been disposed of in North Manchuria, the Chinese may turn their attention to Japanese investments in South Manchuria, valued at billions of yen, the outlook for prosperity is not too promising. Japan long has desired to obtain an American loan for the South Manchuria Railway Company, apparently believing that with American capital invested in Japanese enterprises in South Manchuria the United States would be inclined to take a more lenient attitude toward Japan. "vested rights" in this section of the world. Preliminary negotiations toward such a loan were started when Mr. LAMONT, a partner in the house of MORGAN, visited Japan two years ago. The negotiations were dropped, however, when the State Department, following a tremendous outcry from the Chinese, advised against the loan.

Japan bided her time and was preparing to start new loan negotiations in America when another crisis was precipitated by China's seizure of the Chinese Eastern Railway. Last week the Japanese Ambassador at Washington discussed with the State Department the possibility of floating a loan on Wall Street for the South Manchuria Railway. Although no official announcement was made, it is understood that the present Administration regards the proposal with no more favour than its predecessor. Large-scale American investments in Manchuria would make it impossible for the United States Government to maintain its present independent attitude regarding Far Eastern affairs. China would certainly make another protest if American money were advanced to Japan for her undertakings in Manchuria. Indeed, so clever has been China's campaign to regain what the Chinese consider their right to economic as well as political control of Manchuria, that a section of opinion in Tokyo feels that Japan has passed the zenith of her power in that part of the world, and will be forced gradually to relinquish the direct ownership of many of the industrial enterprises she now controls. This may be effected, however, by increased co-operation between Chinese and Japanese industrial organisations.

It would seem that direct Chinese control of the Manchurian economic machine might not be entirely objectionable to the Japanese if production continued to expand. Japanese shipping lines, of course, would carry the bulk of Manchuria's commerce, while Japanese banks would be in a position to handle the financing and development of industrial enterprise. In addition, there might be an increase in the flow of new materials from Manchuria into Japan proper; while a prosperous Manchuria would, of course, mean a great market for Japanese manufactured goods. Viewed in its large aspects, the Manchurian question is by no means hopeless for Japan, even if she should, in the next quarter of a century, lose direct control of her railway, mining, agricultural and other industrial enterprises there. Manchuria is so vast and so rich that it is certain to pour huge quantities of money into Japan for a long time to come, and the Empire is fortunate to have this great and expanding market at its doorstep.

News and Views.

Colonel and Mrs. Skinner were among the passengers arriving here yesterday from Shanghai by the S.S. Khyber.

The Colony had a clean bill of health on Thursday according to the report of the Medical Officer of Health.

The Catholic Cathedral troop of Boy Scouts, (18th H.K. Group) are arranging a concert in aid of troops funds which will take place at St. Patrick's Hall, Garden Road, next Wednesday at 8 p.m.

According to a report made to the Police by Mr. Thomson of Messrs. Thomson & Co., an office boy employed at Messrs. Thomson & Company absconded with a $100 banknote entrusted to him to convey to Messrs. Gilman & Co., to meet a bill.

At Central Magistracy yesterday, Mr. George Lai, who said he had just returned from the United States and was ignorant of the local traffic regulations, was fined $5 for failing to produce his licence to drive a motor-car. A further charge of not having full control of his car was dropped. In another case a Chinese learner was fined $15 for going "out of bounds." During his adventure a Chinese woman was knocked down and slightly injured.

Before Mr. Whyte Smith yesterday a Chinese was charged with stealing 38 pounds of braising solder from Kowloon Docks, and after escaping from legal custody at the docks. His Worship pointed out that the section under which the defendant was charged mentioned police officers and warders. He held that the defendant was not in legal custody when he escaped. Defendant was sentenced to six months' hard labour for larceny, the other charge being dismissed.

When a little girl was charged before Mr. Whyte Smith with selling vegetables without a licence, His Worship remarked that evidently the hawkers were well organised. When he was approaching Yau-mat-ti market on his way to Court a signal was given and all the unlicensed hawkers hid themselves. Sergeant Barnicle mentioned that hawkers acted as spies for each other and passed the word immediately a detective left the Station. The little girl was fined $4.

The King Edward Hotel.

The statement appearing in yesterday's issue regarding the King Edward Hotel is fully confirmed by one of the directors of the company owning the premises. It is intended to pull down what remains of the present building, and put up an entirely new structure. Our informant is in a much better position to know what is proposed than other parties who have been quoted as giving "official information" to the effect that our report "is all wrong." News of this nature is not published in the Daily Press without efforts being first made to ensure its accuracy. The present intention of the parties directly interested is as was stated yesterday—to erect a new building on the hotel site. We have further details of the plans, but the time has not yet arrived to disclose them.

The Boys' Baron.

Boy Scouts throughout the world will thrill with pride and pleasure to learn that their chief has been promoted to the peerage. It is safe to say, however, that the new Baron will be better known as "B.P." than whatever title he chooses to be formally known by as a peer. The honour conferred upon the Chief Scout by the King is well deserved; he has given the better part of his life to a great work—that of teaching boys to become manly men. An account recently appeared in our columns of Baden-Powell's ideals as expressed in and through the Boy Scout movement. We referred incidentally to the great value of the scheme as a pacific influence by bringing boys of all nationalities into friendly association and rivalry. Now comes news that an American millionaire has given the Chief Scout a cheque for £10,000 to establish a fund to promote international friendship among boys. No more effective method could have been chosen. "B.P." has been a soldier, but is far from being a militarist; his whole work with the Scout movement has been opposed to militarism; his one aim has been to make boys friendly and helpful to one another. In the great Jamboree such as that now being held in England "B.P." sees the fruits of his labours—boys of all nations camping happily together and setting a good example to the vast majority of their elders in sinking race prejudices. Mr. Schiff's generous gift to the Chief Scout will make it possible to achieve much more good work in this direction, and than "B.P." there is no man better qualified to undertake the task.

Snobbery and Success.

Professor Robert E. Rogers, of the English Department of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has stirred up a lively controversy by an address delivered in Boston to the graduating class of the institute, in which he advocated "snobbery" among university men in the United States in order that there should be created a ruling aristocracy of educated men who would wrest control of the nation from the politician, the bootlegger, and "the man who came up from one suspender button." He said:—"Be a snob. You have got to make up your minds that you are superior people. Get the better jobs and money to finance things that are worth while. Belong with the people who belong instead of with the people who do not belong. You cannot go on the assumption that you are as good as the rest of folks; you should take the attitude that you are a little better. Found a family that will be successful. It is just as easy to marry the boss's daughter as his typist." Professor Rogers also declared that Americans are the worst-served people in the world. Their servants, both public and private, are incompetent, badly-mannered, and "grouchy." His remarks have been followed by a flood of protests and criticisms. Mr. Curley, a former Mayor of Boston, for instance, attacks him for advocating a doctrine against which Americans fought a revolutionary war—the divine right of individuals to constitute themselves a ruling class.

Languages of the Navy.

A remarkable illustration of the linguistic ability of the Royal Navy was afforded when the delegates of the International Postal Congress visited Portsmouth dockyard recently. The delegates represented many countries, and for the success of the sightseeing tour it was necessary that a corps of interpreters should be provided for the party. The Navy took this matter in hand and found sixteen interpreters—half the number being officers and half the number men—who piloted the delegates through the yard, and gave in fluent Swedish, Italian, French, German, and Hindustani explanations of the various things shown to the visitors.

Paying the Doctor.

The Medical Society of Chicago has decided to introduce the instalment payment plan for the benefit of its poorer patients and, following the example of other industries, will enlist the aid of a discounting corporation. After a doctor has been summoned and has completed his diagnosis of the case he will make an estimate of the probable cost of treatment and fill out a card which will serve as authorisation to finance a loan at 6 per cent for the physician's individual services. The doctor will immediately receive a cheque for 35 per cent of his bill, and the balance will be paid in instalments as collected from the patient. The corporation will retain 13.3 per cent of the total fee as the doctor's contribution to the plan and for the creation of a fund against which all bad debts will be charged. If the patient vanishes without paying, the doctor will only get his original 35 per cent.

Labour Troubles in Australia.

Mr. Bruce, the Australian Prime Minister, speaking at a public meeting in Adelaide, said that the trade unions with their present leaders would not accept the Arbitration Court awards. An interrupter shouted out that the basis of the awards was absolutely rotten. In reply, Mr. Bruce said that when the parties disagreed with the decisions of the umpire it was time everything was scrapped and another start made. The question was whether decent trade unionists were going to get into the ring and stun those who were out for direct action. There were a few extremists on the employers' side also, and if the employers would give it out that the employees would have safeguards under piece-work, it would go a long way to solve the industrial problem. The employers must be prepared fully to disclose their profits in order to allay the suspicion that capital was getting an undue proportion.

Looking Back 25 Years.

At this time of the year one sees the New Territory at its best. The mountains are green to their crests and the valleys are smiling with crops, ranging in colour from green to yellow. A curious thing to observe is the way in which the work of husbandry goes on; within the same acre of land one can see planting, reaping, and threshing proceeding simultaneously, while in contiguous plots the delicate young radish is just showing above ground, the half-grown crop is waving lustily, and the fully ripened grain hangs heavily waiting for the sickle. Everybody is just planting or garnering, and the yoked oxen have to work from dawn till sunset. The Chinese, by the way, apparently do not agree with the injunction against muzzling the ox that treadeth out the corn, for every draught animal to be seen is furnished with a muzzle that effectually prevents it from snatching a chance mouthful of the luscious young growth. Hong Kong Daily Press, Aug. 3, 1904.

Looking Back 50 Years.

"Permit me to impress on the minds of all business-men and shareholders in general, that if qualified auditors are required to examine accounts, you cannot find men better suited to the work than the Portuguese; they are hard-working, they then not employ them? There are many Portuguese book-keepers here who, if entrusted with the work, full reliance may be placed on them, as they would fully go into the matter, and the task given them would be performed to the satisfaction of all those concerned. They are unfortunately as a class of men badly paid, and these extras would in a great way benefit them. This much I can say also, and to which I have been a witness, that some auditors do not even ask for the cash and other vouchers to compare with the entries! Others do not even see the books! They take everything for granted. They affix their signatures to the balance-sheets, &c., as tendered them by the managers, which they take as correct. They will not take the trouble to scrutinise each and every voucher, and devote their time to calling for all necessary documents in support of the entries made, checking the accounts thoroughly, so that any discrepancy, however innocently made, may be adjusted or corrected.—A PORTUGUESE BOOK-KEEPER. Hong Kong Daily Press, Aug. 4, 1879.

INTERVENTION IN MANCHURIA.

"OWN INTERESTS FIRST."

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Tokyo, Aug. 2. There seems to be little doubt that Japan will be most unwilling to participate in an international commission dealing with Manchuria, unless possibly in the event of an unforeseen emergency.

Even so, she will not welcome the participation of other Powers in settlement of questions affecting Manchuria, where she considers her own interests paramount, and more vital than any considerations of international co-operation. Consequently, the Government is extremely anxious to see the Sino-Russian negotiations proceed smoothly.

MANCHULI PARLEY ABORTIVE?

HIGH WORDS AT THE CONFERENCE.

(Fah Tsai Yai Pao.)

SHANGHAI, Aug. 2. It is unofficially stated that the preliminary Sino-Soviet Conference at Manchuli lasted eleven hours, but was not successful. The situation has become less reassuring. After the conference, over twenty Soviet aeroplanes staged an aerial demonstration.

It is rumoured in Peking that the Central Government will change its policy towards Russia, adopting a more arbitrary attitude. America will act as a mediator should the Manchuli negotiations break off, it is added.

A Spirited Debate.

Further details of the conference state that the representative of China, Mr. Tsai Yu Sheng, insisted upon the resumption of the international railway service, so as to prevent intervention by the Powers. He said that China has not the least intention to seize control of the Chinese Eastern Railway, but she must take action to stop the spreading of Communism by the Soviet.

In reply, the Russian delegate said that China has violated the Sino-Soviet Agreement, under the pretext of preventing the propaganda of Communism. A hot debate followed.

TROOP MOVEMENTS.

(Nam Chung Pao.)

The Heilungkiang authorities have dispatched the 17th Cavalry Brigade to Hailar. Two regiments of Kirin troops have arrived at Changchun, and are waiting to entrain to Hailar.

Six Russian military spies were arrested by Chinese troops at Suifenho on the 30th ult.

LI TSAI HSIN'S RELEASE.

[NAN CHUNG KUO NEWS SERVICE.]

SHANGHAI, Aug. 2. Despite the decision of the Central Executive Committee of the Kuomintang in Nanking to release Li Tsai Hsin, it is said that Chiang Kai Shek is still holding his one-time opponent in custody at Tongshan. It is thought that Chiang will not free his political enemy until the troop disbandment programme has been carried out, which may not actually take place for several months to come.

TO INDIA AND BACK.

AND ALL WITHIN A WEEK!

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Aug. 2. A huge blue monoplane named "The Spider" ascended at Lympne before dawn to-day. The pilot is Captain Bernard and the mechanic Mr. Little.

They are aiming at a return flight to and from India within a week. The enterprise is sponsored by the Duchess of Bedford, who is aboard.

There is no change.

Figures at the last election were:

Tokyo, Aug. 1.

The War Office announces a number of important military appointments and promotions.

Lieutenant-General Jiro Minami, the Vice-Chief of the General Staff, has been appointed to succeed General Hanzo Kanaya, the Commander-in-Chief in Korea, who has been appointed to the Supreme Military Council.

Lieut. Gen. Rentaro Okamoto succeeded Lt. Gen. Minami as Vice-Chief of the General Staff. Major-General Saburo Sato has been appointed Military Attache to the Japanese Legation in Peking, succeeding Lt. Gen. Tatekawa.

NEGRO CONFERENCE.

DEMONSTRATION IN JAMAICA.

London, Aug. 1.

A message from Kingston, Jamaica, states that the sixth annual International Convention of Negro Peoples of the World, organised by Mr. Marcus Garvey, opened with divine service.

Later, a long procession of delegates paraded the main streets.

FRENCH DELEGATES TO THE HAGUE.

Paris, Aug. 1.

M. Briand, M. Cherom and M. Loucheur, members of the Cabinet, and the Governor of the Bank of France, M. Moreau, are to be the principal French delegates at the Hague conference.

As the evacuation of the Rhine-land will be the piece de resistance, General Guillaumat, commander-in-Chief of the French Army on the Rhine, and M. Tirard, High Commissioner in the Rhineland, are also going.

BRUTAL POLICE IN HARBIN.

GRAVE ALLEGATIONS.

AMERICAN CONSUL'S PROTEST.

Tokyo, Aug. 2.

Reports from Harbin are that outrageous conduct by the local Chinese police and soldiers has become a daily happening in Harbin, foreigners not infrequently being the victims.

The latest case where a foreigner was subjected to physical violence at the hands of the Chinese police occurred on Tuesday afternoon in broad daylight, in the streets. The victim was the American vice-consul, who was violently treated when he tried to remonstrate against the brutal handling of an American girl who had roused the ire of the police.

The American Consul has lodged a protest with the Chinese authorities, while it is reported that the Consular Body is seriously concerned over the increasing violence of the police.

LATER.

The victim of the police roughness reported previously was not the vice-consul, but an American employee of the National City Bank of New York.

The American Consul visited the Chief of Police and demanded an explanation, reserving the right of protest if the investigation justifies such a course.

ANGLO-EGYPTIAN TREATY.

London, Aug. 1.

The draft of the Anglo-Egyptian Treaty, which is reported to have been initiated by Mr. Arthur Henderson, the Foreign Secretary, and Mahmoud Pasha, the Egyptian Prime minister, has been approved by the Cabinet Committee.

It will be submitted to the full Cabinet during the week-end.

AMERICAN GAOL RIOTS.

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

LEAVENWORTH (Kansas), Aug. 1. Seven prisoners are reported to have been killed in a riot in the Federal Penitentiary. This is the fourth prison outbreak within a week.

MCINTYRE GOLD MINE.

RECORD YEAR.

["D.P." Special Service.]

Toronto, Ont.—One reserves at the McIntyre mine at the close of the fiscal year ended March 31, 1929, totalled 2,026,279 tons, having an average assay value of $8 a ton a total of $16,178,205, according to the annual report which has just been issued, by the McIntyre Porcupine Mines, Ltd., one of the largest of the operating companies in the Porcupine gold camp of northern Ontario.

It is pointed out that results obtained by this big Ontario producer during the period under review constitute a record in the history of the company's operations.

Bullion recovery the report states, was $4,212,624 and total operating costs, before providing for taxes and depreciation were $2,324,912 giving an operating profit of $1,887,712.

Non-operating revenues totalled $190,755. Provision for municipal, provincial and Dominion taxes was $116,154 leaving net before depreciation of $1,903,313. The company disbursed dividends during the year amounting to $793,000.

"While production and tonnage treated were slightly in excess of anything previously recorded, and underground work was concentrated upon the opening up of new territory rather than the development of ore occurrences, you will note with some satisfaction that, after having produced to a great value of $4,212,624, the estimated ore reserves were larger at the end of the year than they were at the beginning," says J. P. Bickell, president, in his report to shareholders.

ANGLO-RUSSIAN IMPASSE.

NEGOTIATIONS FALL THROUGH.

SOVIET IN A HURRY.

London, Aug. 2.

M. Dovgalevsky left for Paris to-day, having completed his mission to London which, according to Moscow, has ended without any result.

The statement of the Tass agency declares that M. Dovgalevsky, on July 29, urged upon Mr. A. Henderson (Secretary for Foreign Affairs) the immediate appointment of Ambassadors as necessary, after which the Soviet would be agreeable to discuss outstanding questions in London.

Must Go Slowly.

Mr. Henderson emphatically replied that immediate resumption of British-Russian diplomatic relations was impossible and that the British Government proposed, first, to open negotiations on all controversial questions not later than August 14 and had invited a Soviet delegation to London for that purpose.

M. Dovgalevsky, on July 31, handed to Mr. Henderson the Foreign Commissariat's reply, noting that the "British Government were unable or unwilling to restore normal relations, otherwise they would not have advanced as a preliminary condition thereto that complex controversial questions, like mutual claims and counter-claims must be settled."

The Note added:

"This new circumstance, which was not provided for in the British Note of July 17, necessitates new and special consideration of the question. Therefore the Foreign Commissariat is obliged to request further instructions from the Presidium and Central Executive Committee of the U.S.S.R., whose next regular plenary session will consider the new British proposals."

Foreign Office Statement.

The Foreign Office, in a statement, confirms the fact that the conversations between Mr. Henderson and M. Dovgalevsky will not be continued for the present, and says that Mr. Henderson, in his original invitation to the Soviet made it clear that a responsible representative would be welcomed with a view to discussing the most expeditious procedure for settling outstanding questions, including debts and propaganda. Though the Soviet reply was somewhat ambiguous it was presumed that M. Dovgalevsky was authorised to discuss procedure.

Mr. Henderson told M. Dovgalevsky that he was anxious, during the Parliamentary recess, to create machinery dealing with debts claims, etc., so as to seek authority, when Parliament reassembled in October for an exchange of Ambassadors, even if complete settlement of all outstanding questions were not reached.

The statement concludes that the Government has taken note that the Soviet will consider the new proposals at their next session.

The Original Invitation.

A British Wireless message states that it appears that the original invitation to the Soviet Government was to send a representative to London.

The invitation was in the following terms:

"His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom have carefully considered the existing state of the relations between this country and the Union of the Socialist Soviet Republics and are prepared to re-establish the normal machinery of diplomatic relations between Great Britain and the U.S.S.R. on the understanding that reciprocal rights and duties, which international law recognises as incumbent on states in their relations with one another, subsist between this country and the U.S.S.R. To this effect His Majesty's Government invite the Government of the U.S.S.R. to send a responsible representative to London in order to discuss with the Foreign Secretary, the means for reaching, as rapidly as possible, a friendly and mutually satisfactory settlement of outstanding questions between the two countries including those relating to propaganda."

Moscow Annoyed.

Big demonstrations were held all over Russia and half a million paraded in Moscow, when protests were uttered against "the British Government's attitude in regard to the Russian-British negotiations."

TOBACCO KING'S DEATH.

"A CIGARETTE-MAKER'S ROMANCE."

London, Aug. 2.

The millionaire tobacco magnate, Mr. Bernhard Baron, has died suddenly, aged 78. Mr. Baron, as a poor Russo-Jewish emigrant, went to America, and later settled in England.

His charitable benefactions are estimated at £2,000,000. He had frequently avowed his determination to die poor.

It is 63 years since 16-year-old Bernhard Baron walked up, penniless, to the proprietor of a station buffet in New York.

He had some American tobacco mixture and some cigarette papers, and he had rolled a few cigarettes, putting them into packets.

He sold them to the buffet proprietor—and began his career as a cigarette manufacturer.

From there he got work at 16s. a week, and later he invented a cigarette-making machine, whose possibilities he paraded on railway station platforms.

Thirty years afterwards he brought the machine to England, and bought a small business.

It is said that he never forgot poverty—and that poverty would never forget Bernhard Baron.

Much of his success, and that of Carreras, Limited, the tobacco firm of which he was the active Chairman, was due to Mr. Baron's deep knowledge of effective publicity. He was the leader of the band of "Non-Combine" cigarette manufacturers in Britain who had in recent years, by their adoption of up-to-date advertising and sales methods, considerably encroached upon what was formerly almost a monopoly market.

As a case in point, the advent of the post-war lady smoker gave him an opportunity literally to force a well-known cigarette into public favour, by means of skilful and tireless propaganda.

BRITISH COLUMBIA TO AID PROSPECTORS.

["D.P." Special Service.]

Victoria, B.C.—Opening up of new trails to mineral areas will be a feature of British Columbia's assistance to prospectors this year.

The value of this work cannot be gauged in terms of the expenditure of money which is expected to be about $100,000 but will nevertheless be sufficient to facilitate the entry of mining engineers and prospectors into a number of new areas, in which the mineral prospects are considered to be extremely attractive. The programme, the biggest ever undertaken in a single season to expose the mineral wealth of the province to systematic examination, is now being shaped up under the direction of Hon. W. H. MacKenzie, provincial Minister of Mines, after conferences with the district mining engineers from all parts of the province.

One of the districts of chief interest is that east and north of the producing territory around Stewart at the head of the Portland Canal. At present there is a trail from Stewart up the Bear river to Meziadin lake. It is planned to project it into the region directly north of the Portland Canal, and to connect it with the old Telegraph Trail to the Yukon at a point known as Mile 23. Lateral trails east and west will give access to a mineral belt, the possibilities of which have been insistently emphasized by Dr. Kerr, of the Geological Survey, George Clocheir and Dr. E. T. James, former provincial government engineers in the district. When completed this programme will open up the entire territory from Portland Canal to the northern boundary of the province.

Another important trail, further south, is that planned to run from the coast at Kimsquit on the head of Dean channel, northeasterly by way of Eutuk lake and eventually to the main line of the Canadian National Railways. This route, it is stated, will also cut through a highly mineralized zone.

AN AERIAL "GATE-CRASHER."

SECOND "GRAF ZEPPELIN" STOWAWAY.

London, Aug. 2.

Another intending stowaway apparently jumped on to the "Graf Zeppelin" as she was leaving her shed in the early hours of yesterday morning at Friedrichshafen.

News regarding the second man is contained in a message received in New York from the Associated Press correspondent aboard the airship.

The correspondent states that the second man who leapt on board is still on the airship, and that Captain Eckener told him that this stowaway will be sent back by the first steamer from America, and will be severely punished.

OTTAWA RIVER POWER PROJECT.

$2,500,000 INVOLVED.

PROPOSED HYDRO-ELECTRIC DEVELOPMENT.

["D.P." Special Service.]

Ottawa, Ont.—An Order-in-Council has been tabled in the House of Commons approving plans of the Chats Falls Power Company for a hydro-electric power development on the Ottawa river. The proposers of the scheme place the estimated cost at $2,500,000. The proposal, it is pointed out, involves utilization of the head of water available between the water level immediately above Chats Falls and the water level of Lake Deschenes by works entirely within the province of Quebec.

The Power house, to be located between Egan's Island and the Quebec shore, will be designed for two 15,000 horse power units operating on a 37-foot head. The station will be capable of extension to use the total flow at this point and a maximum head of 55 feet.

Chats Falls is approximately 25 miles west of Ottawa. The head office of the company is in Montreal.

WITCH KILLING NO MURDER.

COURT SYMPATHY WITH ASSAILANTS.

Faith in witchcraft still survives in the heart of Europe. This is manifest from an astonishing episode—with a judicial sequel—which has just occurred in Hungary, and which shows what power superstition can still exercise over the Magyar mind.

An old woman has been beaten to death by members of a family who believed that one of their number was held in the thrall of a spell.

Farmer Pittlik fell ill of a mysterious malady, the nature of which baffled the village doctor. The patient began by losing his strength, then his speech, and finally his wits. The family were non-plussed until, in a lucid moment, the inspiration came to Pittlik that he must be bewitched.

"Stand Back!"

He prophesied in a frenzy that at a given hour the witch who had cast a spell over him would appear in his sickroom and, strangely enough, at the exact moment an old hag knocked at the door and hobbled into the room.

"Stand back, stand back," shouted the family, but the stranger hobbled on. Then Michael Gal, Pittlik's brother-in-law, sprang upon the old woman and threw her to the ground. The whole family threw themselves on the unfortunate creature and beat her to death with sticks. The old woman made no sound, for she was deaf and dumb. When she was dead Pittlik sprang out of bed completely cured, finding his speech to rejoice over the dead body of the sorceress.

Her assailants were arrested and sentenced to long terms of imprisonment, but the Supreme Court ordered a new trial, in consequence of which the sentences were reduced in each case to three months' hard labour. The Supreme Court found that the old woman was a witch, and that the only mistake they made was in killing her.

"CHIEF SCOUT" NOW A BARON.

HONOUR FOR SIR R. S. BADEN-POWELL.

A NOTABLE CAREER.

London, Aug. 1.

Lt.-General Sir Robert Baden-Powell has been created a Baron.

Lt.-General Lord Baden-Powell was born in 1857, was educated at Charterhouse and joined the 13th Hussars in 1878.

The Chief Scout is the sixth son of Rev. Professor Baden-Powell, and Henrietta Grace, daughter of Admiral W. H. Smyth, K.S.F.

As Adjutant, he served with the 13th Hussars in India, Afghanistan, and South Africa; served on the Staff as Assistant Mil. Secy., South Africa, 1897-99; operations in Zululand, 1898 (despatches); Asst. Mil. Secy., Malta, 1899-03; special service, Ashanti, in command of native levies 1895 (star, brevet Lieut.-Col.); Chief Staff Officer, campaign in Matabeleland, 1895-97 (despatches, brevet Col.); Colonel of Irregular Horse, South Africa; promoted from 13th Hussars to command of 5th Dragoon Guards, 1897; Lieut.-Col. commanding 5th Dragoon Guards 1897-99; defence of Mafeking, 1899-1900 (promoted Maj.-Gen. (despatches); operations Transvaal 1900-1901 (despatches, C.B.); organised S. African Constabulary; Inspector-General of S. African Constabulary, 1900-1903; Inspector-General of Cavalry, 1903-7; Lieut.-Gen. commanding Northumbrian Territorial Division, 1908; retired, 1910; Colonel-in-Chief 13/18th Hussars.

He founded the organisation of Boy Scouts to promote good citizenship in the rising generation, 1908. At Olympia, London, in July and August, 1920, the first vast gathering of "Jamboree" of boy scouts (from 27 countries) took place. The movement had spread all over the globe and had become a factor for world-peace. By 1921 there were 350,000 scouts in the British Empire and about 1,500,000 throughout the world. In 1924 another huge "Jamboree" was held in London in August. In 1912 a Girl Guides movement was started in imitation, and this also has spread over the globe.

In 1909, the Chief Scout was knighted, and in 1921 he received a baronetcy. He has also been the recipient of many other distinctions, both British and foreign.

PRINCE ATTENDS THE "JAMBOREE."

"ONE OF THE BOYS."

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Aug. 1. The Prince of Wales flew to Hooton, whence he motored to the Arrowe Park Jamboree, bringing brilliant sunshine following a night's gale and torrential rain.

The Prince is spending the night under canvas with the usual camp equipment—ground sheet, old iron bedstead, small deal table, portable washstand, canvas chairs and with a tallow candle as illuminant.

Mrs. Mortimer L. Schiff, the well-known New York banker, handed to the Prince of Wales at the Jamboree, a cheque for £10,000 to establish a fund to promote international friendship among boys.

THE EGG.

BISHOP'S PARABLE FOR CHURCHMEN.

The Bishop of Portsmouth, Dr. E. N. Lovett, compared various types of Churchmen to an egg in different stages before and after cooking, when opening a discussion at the recent annual conference of the Church of England. Men's Society at Ipswich. The discussion was on a resolution to the effect that the great enemy of Christianity to-day was the materialistic spirit, and that every member of the Society should dedicate himself anew to the task of spiritualising every department of human life.

"When you come to look at an egg," said the Bishop, "it presents in its different phases types of so-called Churchmen. There is first of all the uncooked egg with no shape about its interior, so that if you take the shell off, it is all over the place. Are not these Churchmen like that? (Laughter.) Then there is the egg boiled just as I like it—the white of the interior sufficiently firm to keep the heart together. But the heart is adaptable. That is the sort of Churchman I like. While holding together he is able to adapt himself. Then there is the hard-boiled egg. When you get to the heart of the egg it crumbles up, but always retains its own special properties. You cannot do anything with a hard-boiled egg. There are some Churchmen like that, with no idea that they have to adapt themselves to modern conditions. This Society must be able to adapt itself to that which it comes into contact with."

Golf Notes.

STEEL SHAFTS.

For a long time there has been a growing agitation, not only in overseas clubs but also in Great Britain, for the legalization of steel shafts.

For many years they have been legal in America, and that they shall be authorized for use by all who are controlled by the Rules of Golf Committee is only logical.

Many people have opposed the introduction of the steel shaft under misapprehension. Golf Illustrated circularized all clubs in the United Kingdom, and I believe all British clubs overseas on the subject asking for the considered opinion of their Committees. Some of the replies were ridiculous and not a few of them were rude. Some Committees could not grasp the idea that the proposal was merely to make steel shafts legal; they seemed to think that steel shafts were to be made compulsory. Some Committees with nice soft courses thought that because hickory shafts were rarely if ever broken on their links there was no necessity to legalize steel shafts. Others went further than this and suggested that Golf Illustrated was meddling with matters that did not concern it, and were only putting up a Press stunt.

Here is the gist of the matter. Some courses are like iron (our own local courses for many months in the year are abominably hard and the tale of broken shafts is incessant). Hickory is scarce; the best hickory comes from, if it is not kept in America. Some find its way to England; but the supply of properly graded and properly dried hickory is not sufficient for the world's demands. Kilm hickory is very poor stuff for Golf Clubs yet an enormous proportion of the shafts we get out here are of that material—you can tell that by the price if by nothing else.

Steel shafts give the player no advantage in playing. This curious enough was stressed over and over again by J. H. Taylor and other opponents of the legalization of the steel shaft—they informed us for instance, that many of the great American players prefer hickory and always use it.

What so many players are asking for is permission to use steel shafts if they like and to use them anywhere. What is the use of saying "Use steel shafts in Hong Kong if you like and when you come Home buy a few set of clubs"? Why not make them legal, not compulsory, and have done with it? Look at the trouble a distinguished American had in getting hickory shafts to suit him before this year's "Amateur."

No reasonable argument against steel shafts in themselves has ever been advanced. All the opposition comes from club makers and the trade, and the opposition is short-sighted. The trade seem to think the club makers will suffer. Their sufferings will not be great anyhow and sooner or later the tooth has got to come out and steel shafts will be legalized everywhere. Already most English makers of repute are turning out steel shafted clubs and within a little time we ought to see a really flourishing branch added to the British steel industry.

Let us hope by the way that on the occasion of the next visit of our friends from Manila they may be asked to use their steel shafts in their matches here.

ON HANDICAPS.

Golfers may be divided into three classes: (1) players who always think their handicap is too high; (2) players who do not care what their handicap is; and (3) players who think their handicap is too low.

The first class is by far the most numerous and the mentality of the golfer is an amazing thing. We nearly all imagine we are infinitely better players than we can ever become or than we have ever been, and nothing will shake this belief. Of course, we are temporarily (i.e. for about 514 weeks in each year and we may or may not play on the other three days) off our game.

REFEREES' FEES.

AMENDMENT TO H.K.F.A. LEAGUE RULE 15

"CLASS OF MATCH" SCALE.

An extraordinary general meeting of the Hong Kong Football Association was held yesterday to consider a proposal alteration to League Rule 15. It was proposed to delete the words "A" to "route" in the second paragraph reading: "A fee of two dollars and travelling expenses by the cheapest route will be paid to referees by the League for each match; at the end of the season or on leaving the Colony" and substitute "A fee of $5 will be paid to referees."

In putting the matter before the meeting, Mr. R. Hall, the Chairman, said that it arose from a motion by Mr. James at the annual general meeting.

Mr. F. Smith said that the subject was discussed at a meeting of the Referees' Association and a suggestion was made that the fee for referees should be $5 for Class 1, $4 for Class 2, and $3 for Class 3.

Lieut. George expressed an opinion that referees should be paid according to the class of matches in which they officiated, i.e., Division I, Division II, or mid-week. He assumed that first class referees will be appointed for senior matches. At Home a man was paid for the class of game he refereed.

The suggestion of Lieut. George was put in the form of an amended proposal that the alteration to the rule should read that referees should be paid according to the class of matches—$5 for Division I, $4 for Division II, and $3 for mid-week matches. This was seconded by Mr. Smith and carried unanimously.

HONG KONG GOLF CLUB.

LADIES' SECTION.

The following are the results of competitions recently held at Deep Water Bay:

A Running Medal Competition was held during June and July. Mrs. Sherry won, 80-11=69.

A Knock-Out Competition was held for a prize very kindly presented by Mrs. Percy. Mrs. Whyte-Smith won, the runner-up being Mrs. Pearce.

We shall get back to form next week and so on and so forth, and so instead of giving up the game, or applying for an increased handicap we struggle on and on and bear eloquent witness to the vampiric charms of the game. It is an amazing thing that there are thousands of men, otherwise quite sane, who would welcome a reduction of handicap though it were obtained by a most glaring series of flukes and were to prove a most costly acquisition in the matter of paying for other folk's tiffins and providing them with balls. The middle aged are notoriously the worst in this respect. To increase an elderly man's handicap is to him a deadly insult, though it may be welcomed by his partner in four ball matches.

The second class, who do not care what their handicaps may be are all right as long as they only play with their families. If they adventure into other and strange company they are liable to be a nuisance; for the object of nearly every game is to produce a decent handicap, or a ten-year-old affair which is not likely to be achieved. As for the third class, those who think their handicaps are too low, the majority of them are pot hunters pure and simple, a few have and there are genuinely unable to afford habitually losing small stakes. In a place like Fanning, where morning matches almost invariably decide who pays for two tiffins and drinks and where afternoon fourballs usually cost the losers a brace of Dunlops each the under-handicapped one's bill certainly does mount up. Moreover, with a limit handicap of 18 it is hard to find a remedy.

CORRESPONDENCE.

HONG KONG FOOTBALL MATTERS.

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONG KONG DAILY PRESS."]

SIR.—The H.K.F.A. body have only courted round abuse by public discussion of a matter which could have been easily settled in a friendly talk with Mr. F. T. James. They should be wiser now, as I understand that Mr. James, who is qualified to give his higher-placed colleagues on the Council a few tips on football playing and procedure, left the majority speechless.

It was not the dignity of the Association which was at stake, but what other people will think when an offer of a trophy for charity has been turned down, and it was shown that there was room for a charity competition, when the friendlies started before the League season.

Most of the arguments brought forward at the meeting against the member concerned are absurd, and I cannot follow the chairman's reasoning—if he is correctly reported—that a friendly match becomes a charity game once it is advertised. What is there to prevent, say, the Chinese Athletic running a competition during the friendly season and using the money themselves or giving it to charity—advertisement or no advertisement?

As an amateur body, one should expect the whole of the proceeds of matches during the season to be given over to charity. If there is any doubt in this matter it is time that a movement was started to make the Association a limited liability concern with the various clubs who provide the revenue as the shareholders.

Enclosing my card. Yours, etc.,

Hong Kong, August 2.

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONG KONG DAILY PRESS."]

SIR.—An announcement was made at the recent meeting of the H.K.F.A. that they had done their bit towards charity, and in particular for the Society of St. Vincent de Paul.

For a just appreciation of their efforts by the general public, would the H.K.F.A. publish a statement showing the receipts during the last two seasons and the distributions to charity, giving amounts in respect of each institution assisted? Mere words count for nothing. Yours, etc.,

MARRIAGE AS A "FESTIVE JOKE."

WOMAN TEACHER AND AN ELDERLY MAN.

The question whether a marriage in Scotland between a woman schoolteacher and a rich man forty years her senior was not seriously intended by the parties but was merely a "festive joke" was decided by Lord Murray in the Court of Session, Edinburgh.

The action was brought by Francis Cawte or Dunn, of Stockton-terrace, Grangeview, Sunderland for a declaration regarding a marriage ceremony between her and Mr. Andrew Dunn, now dead, at Ayrton, Berwickshire, on December 28, 1922.

Lord Murray said that Miss Cawte had failed to prove her case that the real matrimonial consent was exchanged, and he dismissed the action with costs.

The facts as stated by Lord Murray were that Mr. Dunn at the time of his death was eighty-two.

"Jovial Man."

"He was presented in evidence," added Lord Murray, "as having been of a jovial disposition, fond of a jest and of a drink." friend of Miss Cawte's father, had, according to her evidence, suggested marriage more than once.

Mr. Dunn lived more or less at the Red Lion Hotel, Ayrton, from 1918 until about November 1922. The tenant was a Miss Walker, and in December 1922 Miss Cawte was spending her Christmas holidays at Ayrton. Mr. Arthur Butlin, a travelling dentist, and Mr. J. W. Annandale were chatting with Mr. Dunn when reference was made to Miss Cawte.

Document Signed.

Mr. Dunn said that he was fond of her, and when Miss Cawte went in Mr. Dunn said: "Will you marry me, Frances?" She stated that she was willing if it would be right under the Scottish law.

Lord Murray explained that Mr. Butlin acted as minister, and a document was drawn up and signed by the parties. Miss Cawte took off a ring she wore, and Mr. Butlin placed it on her marriage finger.

"Mr. Dunn had the usual difficulty in signing," said Lord Murray, "but produced a legible enough signature such as he could manage if he had just been assisted or fortified by a glass or two of whisky."

Miss Cawte had stated that although Mr. Dunn survived the alleged marriage for nearly six years there was no ostensible change in their relations.

BOY WHO BECAME A BALLOON.

REMARKABLE RESULT OF SIMPLE ACCIDENT.

A Sydney schoolboy, who developed alarming symptoms after a simple accident, was relieved by a remarkable operation at the Western Suburbs Hospital. The child, Gordon Alan Poole (aged 8 years), of Lakemba, was running and jumping near his home, when he fell across a short, blunt stick, one end of which struck him near the throat. Immediately the boy found difficulty in breathing, and his body became swollen.

The Canterbury District Ambulance conveyed him to hospital, and by this time the boy had swollen to alarming proportions. Every portion of his body, from his scalp and face to the soles of his feet was extended. The swelling had even extended to his eyelids, and his eyes were closed, and could not be opened.

Now Out of Danger.

The doctors diagnosed that the sudden stoppage of respiration, caused by the blow from the stick, had ruptured the left lung, with the result that air was making its way into the tissues. To the touch the boy felt like a balloon, and if lightly slapped he rang like a drum. Similar cases have been known before, but not without some external indication of a respiratory injury. Poole did not even display an external injury.

The case was one for an immediate and remarkable operation. A large incision was made on each side of his chest to permit the air to escape from the inflated tissues. As soon as the incisions were made there was a rush of air, and immediately the child's body commenced to deflate. The air continued to be released for two days and the child is now out of danger.

LOVE LETTER OF MRS. PACE.

ALLEGED ASSOCIATION WITH CAB-DRIVER.

A letter alleged to have been written by Mrs. Pace, "The Tragic Widow of Colford," was read at Gloucester Police Court when Reuben Clarke, of Roseberry-avenue, Gloucester, applied for a reduction of his wife's maintenance allowance from 30s. to 13s. on the grounds that he was unemployed and only receiving 13s. a week. The application was refused.

Clarke said he was living with Mrs. Pace. He denied that she was keeping him, and emphatically denied that he spent a fortnight's holiday with her at Whitsuntide.

He said that during Mrs. Pace's trial he drove her from the prison to the Shire Hall each day, and that when Mrs. Pace was acquitted he went to a party which she gave and went home at four o'clock in the morning. He admitted that he "might" have been dead drunk.

Clarke denied that he was dismissed from his employment; as a taxicab driver owing to his association with Mrs. Pace.

Mr. Drinkwater (for Mrs. Clarke) read an abstract from a letter which he said Mrs. Pace wrote to Clarke when she was in the Gloucestershire Royal Infirmary. It read:—

"I hope you have been a good boy since I saw you. I am longing to see you and have a nice kiss. You know it's nice, but naughty."

Clarke denied that he told his wife that if she brought Mrs. Pace into the proceedings he would "do her in."

Mr. Drinkwater said it was a clear case that Clarke did not want work in view of the alluring prospects of living with Mrs. Pace.

BANKING FACILITIES.

INSTITUTION THAT PAYS BILLS.

Something new in banking is offered by a new trust company which has been organised and will shortly open its doors in Scarsdale, a Westchester County suburb of New York. What chiefly draws attention to the bank is the plan to pay the bills of depositors without their bothering to write the cheques, it will only be necessary for the depositor to forward the bill to the bank properly approved for payment. It is also announced that women as well as men will be members of the board of directors. The bank will be known as the Trust Company of Scarsdale. The New York Times thus comments on the scheme:—

When bills come in, they need only be looked over, approved for payment, and bundled off to the mail-box. The bank will then pay the bills of its patrons, deducting such payments from their accounts. Evidently a bid is to be made for the patronage of women, for various prominent women of Scarsdale will be invited to sit in at the company's councils.

But what a temptation to extravagance in shopping it is likely to prove! Many a woman who would hesitate to fork out three crisp ten-dollar bills for a charming little hat, which she doesn't really need, feels not a qualm of extravagance when she writes a cheque for it, or simply says "Charge it to my account." And if the process of paying is made completely painless—only an initialled O.K. on a bill—shopping for tempting finery should receive a great stimulus. Both little milliners and grand couturiers will wish the bank the best of success.

CANADA'S WOOLLEN TEXTILE INDUSTRY.

VALUE OF LAST YEAR'S TRADE.

["D.P." Special Service.]

Ottawa, Ont.—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has issued a comprehensive report on the "Woollen Textile Industry in Canada 1927" which deals with the products, capital invested, number of employees, etc., under four heads: woollen yarns; woollen carpets, mats and rugs; and woollen goods, n.e.s., which includes wool felts, wool pulled, etc., wool stock (shoddy) wool waste and noils, etc.

It is pointed out that the four sections of the woollen textile industry produced manufactures to the value of $31,212,842 in the year under review. This value compares with a total of $31,401,222 in 1926 showing a slight reduction in value for the industry as a whole. The decline was due to a lower value of production in the first two groups or woollen cloths and woollen yarn. Production in the carpets, mats and rugs section and in the woollen goods, n.e.s., group registered increases.

Woollen cloth ranked first in production value the output of the 55 mills in this group in 1927 being valued at $14,318,369 compared with $13,503,063 from 54 mills in the previous year. Capital investment declined by $268,283, the total for the year under review being $20,170,185.

In the woollen yarns industry output in 1927 showed a slight decline at $9,944,753 compared with $7,009,877 in 1926. While the number of establishments remained stationary at 17, the capital investment shows a large increase from $8,417,623 at the end of 1926 to $9,761,057 for 1927.

Carpets and Rugs.
The carpets, mats and rugs section was in several respects the outstanding group in the woollen textile industry in 1927. The value of manufactures increased to $4,015,339 from $3,906,350 higher at $4,343,572 and the number of plants was up by one at 15.

The woollen goods, n.e.s., section also shows an increase in the gross value of production from $5,758,429 to $9,034,266. Capital investment declined by $236,150 to $7,758,050 and the number of establishments reporting by 4 to 24.

Considering the industry as a whole, the report shows that the total capital invested in the woollen textile industry in Canada in 1927 was $42,092,664. For 1926 the amount was reported as $41,184,601 showing an increase of $908,063 for the year under review. While the value of production or gross value of manufactures was $185,350 lower in 1927 at $31,212,842, the net value or value added by manufacturing, obtained by deducting the cost of raw materials, was reduced to the extent of only $63,422, this item being shown at $14,134,214 compared with $14,196,636 in 1926. The number of employees in 1927 was 7,963 compared with 8,033 in the previous year. The payroll was slightly higher at $7,129,417 compared with $6,942,120.

Interesting sections of the analysis deal with the quantity of production and the imports and exports in each division of the industry. That Canada is by no means supplying its requirements in woollens is shown by imports of woollen textiles in 1927 to the value of $46,208,283. The summary by classes shows that this item is made up of raw material's valued at $9,929,545, partly manufactured goods, $4,105,537 and wholly manufactured goods, $32,173,201.

French Tweeds.
In the grand total there is a reduction of over a million dollars from 1926 when the total was shown at $47,371,729. The bulk of the imports of woollen textiles are from the United Kingdom. France accounts prominently in the supply of tweeds, women's dress goods, worsted and serges, and cassimeres though in each case ranking after the United Kingdom in the supply of these commodities.

Canada's exports of wool and its products, the report points out, amounted to $3,453,453 in 1927. The principal exports were of raw wool which amounted in value to $3,133,095 and of which the United States took $2,300,269 worth and the United Kingdom, $726,722. Exports in the previous year amounted to $1,632,631.

Canada also imported carpets, mats and rugs to the value of $2,619,527 in 1927 compared with $2,005,104 in the previous year. Imports of oriental and hand woven rugs increased from $640,777 to $993,762. Imports of all varieties from the United Kingdom amounted in value to $1,342,595. Turkey, the United States, France, Germany and China were other countries from each of whom Canada purchased carpets, mats and rugs in 1927 to an amount exceeding $100,000 and under $200,000.

Canada's exports of carpets, mats, etc., were valued at only $25,708. The Bureau of Statistics in its statement directs attention to the high value of Canada's imports of carpets, mats and rugs, imports of $2,619,527 compared with products of manufacture in Canada valued at $4,015,339 or imports to the value of sixty-six cents for every dollar of product manufactured in Canada.

STEEL BROS. AND CO.

REORGANISATION OF CAPITAL ISSUE.

The ordinary capital of Steel Brothers and Co., the important East India merchant house, has been reorganised for rather novel reasons. For more than 30 years the ordinary shares have been held by those actively engaged in the business—namely, by the managing directors and the managers and assistants in London and the East.

These holders have been largely dependent for their remuneration upon the dividends paid on the ordinary shares, and the directors consider that the inducement thus held out to those engaged in the management to devote their best energies to their duties has been largely responsible for the success of the company.

The company's articles of association provide for the transfer of the ordinary shares of a retired or deceased manager to existing managers, but difficulties may arise in financing such transfers of shares. To preserve the existing system and to reduce the financial strain of acquiring ordinary shares available for transfer, £100 ordinary shares is being sub-divided into 75 preferred ordinary of £1 each and 50 deferred ordinary shares of 10s., the preferred to carry a fixed 8 per cent, non-cumulative dividend, leaving the balance of profits to the deferred ordinary shareholders.

Three-fourths of the voting rights will remain with the deferred shares, and the holders of preferred shares are to be entitled to vote at meetings only if their dividend has been reduced or passed.

NEW INDUSTRY FOR INDIA.

ATTEMPT TO OUST FOREIGN RIVALS.

Tatanagar.—An interesting industrial development was inaugurated at Tatanagar when Sir Bhupendranath Mitra, Member for Industries, laid the foundation stone of a steel foundry and machine shop which the Tatanagar Foundry Company, a subsidiary of the Tata Iron and Steel Company, is erecting for the manufacture of railway materials.

The proprietor, Mr. J. Agarwalla, said it is proposed to manufacture cast steel wheels for railways, carriages and wagons. As no firms in India were at present undertaking this process Indian railways had been compelled to buy wheels outside the country, principally from America. A reverberatory furnace and an open hearth furnace will be installed in the steel foundry.

The new buildings will measure 850 feet by 225, and will include the extension of an adjacent iron foundry, where the larger castings will be made and handled by overhead cranes. The company's enterprise will give employment to 1,500 men, in addition to 2,000 working at present.

Government Help.

It will become possible to manufacture 2,000 tons of cast steel monthly and 2,000 extra tons of cast iron. The present cast iron output is 150 tons daily, consisting mainly of sleepers and wheels.

Mr. Agarwalla, welcoming Sir Bhupendranath Mitra, remarked that the raw materials of the iron and steel industry were practically inexhaustible in India. The possibilities of iron and steel consumption in India were far greater than in any other country. The State would be required not only to encourage the industries by purchases, but to help by means of protection in the form of a bounty or a subsidy, if necessary.

Irregular, spasmodic purchases by Government departments might mean death to many industries, and were not a little responsible for the present labour troubles.

Sir Bhupendranath Mitra, replying, said if an industry was to depend wholly on the custom of the Government it was open to doubt whether that industry would have an assured future. If an industry was to live solely for the purpose of meeting the requirements of Government, it might be questioned whether it would not be in the interest of the public and the taxpayers that the Government should itself undertake the manufacture of a particular class of articles as part of the operations of one of its semi-commercial organizations.

CANTON TRADE NOTES.

25,758 bags of rice were imported during July.

Over 270 packages of wolfram ores have been exported during the last two days.

130 bales of raw silk were sold on Thursday last. The quotations were Nos. 14/15 H.K. $935, Nos. 20/22, H.K. $850.

As the Canton Central Bank of China notes are now being accepted at full value of exchange. The rate for Hong Kong money has dropped.

The cotton yarn market has continued active and prices have further advanced by two to three dollars per bale. The quotations in Canton on Thursday were No. 20 at $27½ to $315, No. 12 at $265 to $268 and No. 10 at $227 to $24½.

Trade conditions have been bad in Kowloon since the inter-Kwang war, and the heavy taxes imposed by the local authorities have not eased the burden of the merchants. Little business is now being done either with Hong Kong or places on the West River.

The fashion for pearls has declined among Chinese women of late and in consequence prices have dropped by about 30 per cent. Their place has been taken by jade and other precious stones, the price of which has mounted briskly in response to the sudden demand.

The Canton Central Bank of China recently received from the Nanking Ministry of Finance 920,000 ounces of silver bullion as the first instalment of the silver set aside by the Central Government to maintain the currency of Canton. The bank authorities have had a telegram from the Ministry announcing that another instalment of over 3,000,000 ounces of silver bullion will be shipped to Canton by the s.s. President Wilson, which is expected in Hong Kong on the 10th inst.

IRISH "JOAN OF ARC."

ROMANTIC CAREER OF MADAME McBRIDE.

[United Press.]

Dublin.—Maud Conne, or, to state her full name in recent years, Madame Conne McBride—is a remarkable figure, not only in the political history of Ireland, but also in that of France at one period. She was a Boulangist and a Fenian, and in later years espoused the cause of extreme Republicanism in the Irish Free State. In a word, she has always been a revolutionist. She was born about 65 years ago in London, being the daughter of Colonel Conne of the British Army, who had some record as a soldier in various parts of the British Empire. At a time when she was still almost in her teens she went with her father and sister to reside in Paris. She might be said to be brought up in the Bohemian atmosphere, of the gay city, and was talented and artistic.

Bohemian Girlhood.

After the death of her father she remained in France with her sister. They had been left a sufficient income to support them. The sister married a British officer named Pilcher, who became a General and took a prominent part in the Boer War.

The Boulangist Party were still a force in France in Maud Conne's girlhood, and she joined it with enthusiasm, her associates at the time including many prominent Frenchmen and women.

In the early 'Nineties she became connected with Irish politics at a time when the intensive movement of Parnell had given way to a campaign in favour of amnesty for Irish political prisoners. Many of those who took part in the Fenian movement were in English convict prisons, and the British Government were accused of callousness and cruelty in their treatment. At this period Maud Conne was up and down the country addressing meetings after meetings.

She was then a strikingly beautiful woman with a mass of golden hair crowning a regal head. Tall and stately, with a captivating manner, and already experienced as a platform orator, she was a new and striking figure in Irish politics, readily attracting admirers all over the country, and soon came to be designated the "Irish Joan of Arc."

The Amnesty movement had a successful result, all the prisoners being released in 1903.

In America Too.

When next Maud Conne was heard of, she was in America where she became acquainted with some of the leaders of the Clan-na-Gael with whom she threw in her lot for the cause of Ireland.

She made several trips between Paris and New York on behalf of the Clan-na-Gael. In 1907 she was again in Ireland, at a period when the feeling of discontent at British rule was running high once more. It was the year of Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee, and its attempted celebration in Ireland led to serious disturbances in many places. In Dublin, on Jubilee night, Maud Conne was one of the leaders of meetings denouncing England, and waved a black flag instead of the Union Jack.

Serious rioting in which there were police charges horse and foot, resulted in many persons being injured, and an old lady killed.

In 1909 Maud Conne returned to Paris, on the outbreak of the Boer war the following year espoused the cause of the Burghers with characteristic ardour. In 1900 Major John MacBride, who had led the Irish Brigade in the Transvaal, arrived in Paris, where he became acquainted with Miss Conne. Their acquaintance ripened into a close friendship, and in 1901 they visited America on a lecturing tour to raise money for Arthur Griffith's paper in Dublin. After a brief but successful tour they returned to Paris and were married. Miss Conne in the meantime having been received into the Catholic Church. Five years later they were divorced.

Prosecuted Several Times.

Major MacBride came to Ireland and, eventually settling in Dublin, was in close touch with the Sinn Féin revolutionaries, took part in the 1916 Rebellion and was executed with the other chief leaders after surrender.

Following the events of 1916 Mrs. MacBride appeared in Dublin and took the name of Madame Conne MacBride. She was accompanied by her son, Sean who, now a stalwart young man, inheriting the good looks and the patriotic enthusiasm of his mother, took an active part in the revolutionary movement which resulted in Treaty of 1921. He took the side of the Republicans at the time the Civil War, and was several times imprisoned. Madame MacBride also espoused the Republican cause, and was herself prosecuted on several occasions.

For some years she has been associated with Mrs. Despard, the picturesque little frail old lady, (Continued at foot of next column).

MAGICIAN AND HIS CULT.

SUCCESS AMONG GERMAN POOR.

END OF ENGLAND PROPHESED.

Berlin.—Joseph Weissenberg, whose recent "prophecy" that England would disappear into the sea was falsified by the absence of any unusual natural phenomena in the United Kingdom on the fatal day, is now in danger of coming into collision with the law.

The Berlin criminal police have confiscated the body of a druggist named Wernicke, who died last Thursday from blood poisoning due to a boil on the neck. Wernicke, who was a fanatical adherent of Weissenberg, refused any other treatment, than that which the "prophet" should prescribe.

The prescription, it is alleged, was the application of soft cheese to the wound, together with a diet of butter-milk.

Sect Causing Alarm.

The doctors who at length treated Wernicke when his case was already hopeless, declared that there would have been no question of a fatal issue if recourse had been had to the ordinary processes of scientific medicine.

The criminal police are stated to be consulting with the Public Prosecutor as to whether the case does not call for proceedings in the Courts.

The affair is serving to direct a good deal of public attention to Weissenberg and his sect. What is causing alarm is the growing number of adherents to a sect whose practices and pretensions are the outcome of a thoroughly unhealthy state of mind. The leader Weissenberg claims to be able to conjure up spirits, to heal the sick by the laying on of hands, and to work all manner of miracles.

Outrageous Claims.

Magic is his method, and his appeal is through the medium of the most primitive forms of suggestion. Nor is he content merely to be the founder of a sect; he claims to be the Divinity in mortal form, and his followers believe in him as such. Yet close observers of Weissenberg deny him any kind of mystical inspiration or religious originality. Hysterical outbursts are part of the recognised ritual of the sect, not only during worship, but during the most ordinary performances of every-day life, such as taking a meal.

In Weissenberg's weekly, organ, the "White Mountain," of which the circulation is given as 17,000 and which the number of advertisements testifies to some financial backing, interviews are published with the ghost of Bismarck and the Archangel Gabriel.

The same publishers issue a brochure containing, for instance, "cosmological explanations of the politico-geological prophecies of the last few months," referring, of course, to the destruction of England or Denmark and to epidemic outbreaks of pest in Russia or Germany.

JUNK MASTER CONVICTED. LIQUOR CARGO IN TRANSIT.

The case against the Chinese junk master who was charged with unlawful possession of dutiable liquor and 50 packages of cigarettes was concluded yesterday before Mr. T. S. Whyte-Smith at Kowloon Magistrate.

His Worship registered a conviction and cautioned the defendant, ordering the wine and tobacco to be confiscated.

The case gave rise to an interesting argument as to whether a boat passing through the waters of the Colony with dutiable liquor on board was infringing the local laws.

The Magistrate asked Mr. H. A. Taylor of the Import & Export Office, and who prosecuted, if it were true that the defendant was, as he had stated, passing through the waters of the Colony from Shum Chun to Miu Wan in Chinese territory, would any duty be payable in Hong Kong?

Mr. Taylor replied in the negative.

His Worship remarked that he thought he had better give the defendant the benefit of the doubt.

In reply to his Worship, who asked if the prosecution would ask for the confiscation of the wine and tobacco, Mr. Taylor said that the defendant had broken the letter of the law and the defendant must have known the law as his boat was registered in the Colony.

His Worship pointed out that the position would be rather curious if the defendant's wine were returned to him. It would be interesting to see if he went off to Miu Wan, where he stated he was going. Perhaps, his Worship smilingly remarked, a police launch might escort him.

sister of Lord French, late Viceroy of Ireland, in a campaign directed against the arrests and imprisonment of men and women for political offences.

Each Sunday afternoon, at the conclusion of last Mass at the Cathedral, Dublin, one or the other address a meeting of some hundreds of people in the vicinity of the Church, and whether it be wet or fine they can always rely on an audience for they have a following of adherents who faithfully flock to their platform Sunday after Sunday.
